But Berlin, Laos Come First

Kennedy Hints Future Visit to Soviet Union

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy held open today the possibility that he might someday visit the Soviet Union if he were invited.

The question of the possible visit came up at Kennedy's news conference after the President said he was delighted at the publication in the Soviet Union of an interview with him. But he noted he has not been invited to visit the Soviet Union.

Other Problems First

Kennedy also said that at the moment there are important problems that must be solved before such a visit would be a matter of practical consideration—the problems of Berlin and Southeast Asia.

On the Berlin dispute, Kennedy said that an international control system for the highway between West Berlin and West Germany might bet set up under either four-power control or through United Nations operations.

In his interview Saturday with Izvestia editor Alexei Adzhubei, Kennedy proposed an international regime for the autobahn. By this he obviously meant control of Berlin's access routes by some authority other than the Communist East German government. The Soviet position is that the East Germans would take over control of the routes, though not West Berlin itself.

Free Movement Goal

Asked today what he had in mind, Kennedy said he was anxious to work out some system that would assure the free movement of goods and people between West Berlin and West Germany and would avoid harassment. One suggestion which has been considered for achieving that result, he said, is the international administration.

Kennedy declined to discuss in detail the state of Western preparations for Berlin negotiations.

From other sources, it was learned that the Western powers are considering making proposals for a Berlin settlement. The proposals would be designed to strengthen the Western hold on West Berlin and its access routes. Kennedy's suggestion for internationalization of the autobahn may be included.

The prospective Western plan for Berlin, coupled with new exploratory talks with the Soviet government, is expected by authorities here to lead an East-West foreign ministers conference in a few months.

No Compromise Near

But U.S. officials say the negotiations thus foreseen will be prolonged and extremely difficult and no compromise solution of the Berlin dispute is in sight.

The Kennedy interview with Alexei Adzhubei, editor of the Soviet government newspaper Izvestia and son-in-law of Premier Khrushchev, dramatically illustrated the complete conflict of aims on Berlin issues with which the Soviet Union and the West are approaching negotiations.

The conflict of aims developed

Issuance of Car Plates for 1962 To Start Friday

Motor vehicle registration plates for 1962 will go on sale at the Ulster County Motor Vehicle Bureau, 32 Main Street on Friday, Dec. 1, according to County Clerk Lawrence D. Craft.

Two new full-sized plates, yellow with black letters and numerals, will be issued instead of a tab issued in 1961.

Plates Arrived Monday

Ralph E. Post, deputy county clerk at the MVB, said today only part of the shipment of plates for this county arrived on Monday, due to an explosion in the paint shop at Auburn Prison, where the plates are made. The rest of the shipment is expected to arrive early in December.

Renewal of plates will start this year at the local office with UL series, Post said. The 1962 plates were made with better material and are lighter in weight.

Car owners planning to request reservations of plates must include a money order or check with the registration application, as no cash for reservations will be accepted at the local office. Renewal applications should be made early.

Inspection Necessary

Post said that if a vehicle is subject to inspection the inspection must be made before application for registration is made for 1962 plates.

Insurance certificates will not be necessary if the application is made by the same registrant for the same car registered in 1961, it was said.

Commercial, trailer and farm plates expire on Jan. 15.

Passenger cars may display the 1962 plates on Jan. 1, although the 1961 plates may be displayed until midnight on Jan. 31.

Approximately 40,000 registrations were handled at the local MVB office in 1961 and the office staff urges car owners to make early applications for next year's plates.

Is Appointed By Schwenk To Legal Job

HARRY GOLD

Mayor-elect John J. Schwenk today announced that attorney Harry Gold will be corporation counsel in the new city administration. As corporation counsel, Gold will represent and counsel the city government in all legal matters.

Schwenk said that the selection of attorney Gold for this important post "is in keeping with my promise to attract the best qualified men to key positions in municipal government. I am confident," Schwenk declared, "that Harry Gold will perform with great efficiency, maturity of judgment, and devotion to the best interests of the people."

A prominent member of the Ulster County legal profession now serving as assistant district attorney, Gold is a former special city judge, and has been practicing law in Kingston for the past 23 years. During this period, he served as counsel to the Kingston Housing Authority for 10 years and as chairman of the Zoning Board for nine years.

A native of the city, he attended local schools and earned his college and law degrees at Cornell University and Cornell Law School.

He is past president of the Kingston Lions Club, a trustee and past president of the Congregation of Temple Emanuel and has been active in civic and philanthropic activities in Kingston for many years.

Gold resides at 26 Mountain View Avenue with his wife, the former Ruth Zucker, his son Barry, and daughters, Suzanne and Margot.

GIs May Leave Service Early

Less Than Year in Uniform Possible JFK Says; Hails War Prevention Duty

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy today told men called into military service they may get out of uniform within less than a year.

Urging them not to grumble in the meantime, he said they provide the strength to spare the United States a choice "between humiliation and a holocaust."

Notes Discomforts

Somewhat heatedly, Kennedy took note at a news conference of newspaper stories reporting discomforts and possible shortcomings in equipment and training programs for reservists and National Guardsmen summoned to service as a result of the East-West crisis over Berlin.

The President said his administration—contrary to some speculation — never intended to hold men called up for more than a year.

The hope, he said, is to let them out before the end of the 12 month period for which they were originally ordered to service.

Kennedy also observed that Congress approved the callup which the administration initiated last summer.

Kennedy, in a clear attempt to bolster the morale of the reservists and guardsmen whose lives were disturbed by the muster of additional strength, said the soldier on duty in a "cold and windy camp" is rendering the same valuable service as an airplane on 15-minute alert with the Strategic Air Command.

Wants to Have Choice

Kennedy said his administration had felt the nation lacked adequate conventional military strength.

He said the armed forces were increased—"to prevent a war, not to fight a war."

"We want to have a choice between humiliation and holocaust," Kennedy said with reference to a middle ground between surrender and the devastation of nuclear war.

Kennedy declared once again that this country wants to negotiate a peaceful settlement of East-West issues "but does not intend to surrender."

He said a key point in any future negotiations with the Soviet Union will be the question of internationalization of the administration of the autobahn land route to Berlin.

NameLongendyke Fireman; Lawlis Now Dispatcher

Appointment of a fireman and a dispatcher were approved Tuesday night by the fire board which also accepted a bid for retirement.

James M. Longendyke, of 50 German Street, was named a third grade fireman, Reginald E. Lawlis, of 187 Clinton Avenue, who had been serving provisionally, was appointed a dispatcher, and Fireman Frederick A. Williams, of 9 Shufeldt, who has served in the department nearly 30 years, is due to retire as of Jan. 1.

Starts on Dec. 9

Longendyke, a graduate of Kingston High School, was formerly employed by Electrol, Inc. 85 Grand Street. He had served provisionally in the department from last Feb. 8 to July 7. He succeeds Frank B. Hornbeck, of 57 Elmendorf Street, who recently resigned. Longendyke is a member of Rescue Hook and Ladder Company, the Fifty Club and the Kingston Power Boat Association. He is due to start on regular duty Dec. 9.

Lawlis began duty provisionally as a dispatcher on April 19, 1960. Born in Smyrna Mills, Maine, he was graduated from Oakfield High School in that state and attended Aroostook State Teachers College, Peresque Isle, Me. He served three years in the U.S. Army, 1955 to 1958. He is married to the former Josephine Berardi, and they are the parents of a daughter, Maria

Consumers to Gain Under C-H Year-Round Gas Rate

ALBANY, Nov. 29—The Public Service Commission today authorized Central Hudson Gas & Electric Corporation of Poughkeepsie, to establish uniform year-round rates to commercial and industrial gas customers on not less than one day's notice to the public.

This was confirmed this morning by Central Hudson's Upper Hudson Division manager, Arthur W. Buddenhagen.

Effective Nov. 30

Buddenhagen estimated that the new rate would result in savings for most of the company's 2,750 industrial customers and would reduce gas revenues to the utility in the amount of $198,000 annually. The new rates will become effective Nov. 30.

He said that the reduced rates which will also eliminate the difference between summer and winter rates, were requested by the company to enable it to improve its competitive position in the sale of natural gas for space heating and other purposes in an expanding commercial and industrial market in the mid-Hudson valley.

Central Hudson serves about 41,000 natural gas customers in

Two New Units Would Keep Draft Calls Up

WASHINGTON (AP) — Draft calls likely will stay at a relatively high level—and may go even higher—if the Army is increased by two regular divisions.

Pentagon sources said Tuesday the White House informally has agreed with Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara's recommendation that the regular Army be swelled from 14 to 16 divisions. Congressional approval would be needed.

Money to man and equip the two new divisions—perhaps as much as $250 million—probably will be included in the budget President Kennedy sends to Congress in January for the bookkeeping year starting next July 1.

Sen. Richard B. Russell, D-Ga., said the Senate Armed Services Committee which he heads will make a careful investigation early in January of the defense buildup.

The Army, under the impetus of the Berlin situation, already has strengthened to 16 divisions, but two are National Guard outfits that under present law cannot remain in federal service beyond next October.

A division consists of about 13,500 men, not counting support units which may total twice that figure.

Counting 156,000 Guardsmen and reservists summoned to active duty this fall, Army strength has now reached about 1,080,000.

If approved by Congress, creation of two more regular divisions would mean a million-man Army for some time to come.

At the outset of the Berlin military buildup, Kennedy told Congress last July he was ordering draft calls doubled and tripled in the coming months.

From a total of 6,000 men drafted in July, the levy jumped to 13,060 in August, then to 25,000 in September, dropped to 20,000 in October and November and to 16,000 for December.

COMPLETES FIRST SWEEP — This is one of the chimps trained for today's historic orbital flight. The honor went to Enos who was lifted off at 10:07 a. m. from Cape Canaveral, Fla., in the Mercury-Atlas space flight designed to make three complete sweeps of the earth. Eighty-eight and a half minutes later Enos was reported performing perfectly after the first of the three sweeps. A fully-successful flight today would pave the way for the first U. S. man-in-orbit flight. (NEA Telephoto)

Trackers Say All Going Well

Last Trip Planned To End 2:37 P. M.

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) —Because of suspected trouble with the spacecraft, scientists decided to terminate the orbital flight of Enos the ape at the completion of the second orbit.

Reverse rockets were fired and the capsule headed for a landing 500 miles south of Bermuda in the Atlantic.

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) —Enos the space ape whirled over Cape Canaveral today after the first of three planned earth orbits, performing his assigned tasks as though he were perfectly at home in his weird weightless world above.

As the intelligent, dead-panned primate completed his initial 88½ minute orbit a critical part of his ride still lay ahead — the parachute descent back to earth.

Makes Way for Astronaut

Scientists planned to return the ape's space ship from orbit after three sweeeps around the earth. If all works well, the U.S. will begin a crash program to send a human astronaut over the same route in a similar spacecraft before the end of 1961.

The space agency plans to reveal the name of the pilot selected for that journey on completion of today's flight, if it is successful.

The freckle-faced astrochimp, a 37½ pound native of Africa's French Cameroons, zipped away from Cape Canaveral at 10:07 a.m. (EST) atop a thundering Atlas rocket. The huge Atlas performed perfectly and blasted the two-ton, bell-shaped capsule into an orbit ranging from 99 to 146 miles high. The speed was about 17,500 miles an hour.

Everything Normal

In swift succession, tracking stations at Bermuda, a mid-Atlantic ship, the Canary Islands, Nigeria, Zanzibar and an Indian Ocean ship reported that the flight was proceeding normally, all spacecraft systems were working, and the tiny passenger was doing his jobs correctly.

A report from the flight surgeon at the Mercury control center at Cape Canaveral said Enos, a 5½ year old male, had not missed a trick, indicating that his ability to function was not hindered in any way by the crushing force of blastoff or the initial entry into the weird world of weightlessness in which he would be for all but a few minutes of the intended 4½ hour ride.

The orbits were to take an aver-

Boy Chimp Off on Big Job

Reaction to Determine Man's Space Stresses

By JOHN BARBOUR
Associated Press Science Writer

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) —A boy chimp went out on a man's job today.

Enos, a 37½-pound chimpanzee, blasted off on a 125-ton Atlas rocket for a trip three times over his native Africa and around the world. But just as important:

His reaction to nearly 4½ hours of demanding schoolwork during the trip, clouded by the mysteries of space flight, will help determine whether a man can endure the same stresses.

Well Schooled

Perhaps shortly after Christmas or New Year's a man will ride another Atlas rocket to find the same strange challenges awaiting him on another world-girdling flight.

Like the astronaut, Enos has been well-schooled for the tests to see how well he can perform during the unearthly state of weightlessness.

Even two minutes before he shot into space, Enos began pulling levers to avoid a slight electric shock in his foot. Then as the giant rocket shoved him skyward, and the mighty forces of acceleration pressed his small body back into his cradle-like chamber, he had to continue the test:

Red light in right test window on the dashboard. Pull the red lever once very 20 seconds or more often. Again. Again.

Feels Strange World

The forces of acceleration lessen and finally diminish altogether. A strange world of no force encompassed Enos. Suddenly his entire environment had no weight —he felt no gravity.

If he had not been zippered into his space chamber, he might have floated about.

Whatever he felt, Enos then began another test. This time another light spelled out another

Woman Is Fifth Person Held in Mugging Attack

The sheriff's department made a fifth arrest in Friday's mugging and robbery of Charles Moses, 61 of 217 Catherine Street, in the village of Bloomington, when they picked up Sarah Highe, 23, of Park Street, Ellenville and charged her with robbery, second degree, Tuesday night.

Held for Grand Jury

Sarah waived examination before Justice of Peace Edward Brodsky of Rosendale and was held for grand jury action. Four Ellenville men: David Reid Jr., 27, of 4 Broadhead Street; Abraham Reid, 16, of 114 Center Street; Ernest Stone, 19, of 151 Center Street and Harry Hill, 30, of 235 Canal Street, all appeared before Justice Brodsky Monday night, waived examination on charges of robbery, second degree and are being held for action by the grand jury.

North Country Gets 18-Inch Snow Cover

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — A crippling, wind-blown storm buried New York State's north country under as much as 1½ feet of snow today.

Drifts blocked several roads and many schools were closed between Plattsburgh and Malone, although Plattsburgh itself received only about an inch of snow.

State Police cautioned against unnecessary travel in the area, as the snowing and blowing continued. The weather bureau forecast a tapering-off before Thursday.

Communities north of Syracuse, on the northern shore of Oneida Lake, also measured up to 10 inches. Syracuse had 4, Utica 3.

Malone wallowed in 1½ feet. Ellenburg and Lyon Mountain, to the east, battled about 1 foot.

Highway crews fought massive drifts in Route 11, west of Ellenburg, Route 374 south of Chateaugay, and the Military Turnpike between Ellenburg and Altona. Secondary roads also were blocked.

Up to 8 inches blanketed the Saranac Lake-Lake Placid area. Massena, on the St. Lawrence, recorded 5.

Most of the rest of the state had only light snow or flurries overnight. Binghamton and Oneonta reported 2 inches.

The weather bureau predicted general flurries today and tonight, and squalls Thursday in the western section and southeast of Lake Ontario.

Temperatures will fall from Tuesday night's general mid-20s to the teens tonight in the eastern half, the weather bureau said. Thursday is expected to be warmer in the eastern half but colder in the west.

Greene Area Gets 3-Inch Snow; 23 Traffic Tied Up

Ulster County, beset by a cold blustery wind on Tuesday, received occasional snow flurries that left a trace on the ground in some areas, but just north in Greene County some three inches of snow were dropped in the Route 23 area.

Trooper A. J. Peterson of the Leeds sub-station of the state police, said Route 23 was tied up for a while Tuesday night because of the snowfall.

The weatherman has forecast continued cold blustery weather throughout today with more scattered snow flurries. The temperature this morning remained virtually the same as on on Tuesday, being only one degree warmer in the uptown area of Kingston. It was 29 Tuesday morning and 30 this mornnig. The forecaster sees no immediate warming for the area, but indicates that fair skies should prevail on Thursday.

Physically Fit Men Ordered to Join Work Crews

SAN JOSE, Calif. (AP) — All able-bodied men on county general relief rolls have been ordered to join county work crews by the Santa Clara County Board of Supervisors.

Those who refuse, and have been found physically fit by county examination, will lose their assistance checks.

Howard W. Campen, county executive officer, said the plan was put into effect Monday. He said county projects employing the men would be under way by about the middle of December.

Campden said the men would be credited at the rate of $1.25 an hour towards their assistance payments and would have ample time off to look for other work.

Great and Humble Pay Last Homage To Sen. Bridges

Rockefeller Due Tonight, Realizes Only Miracle Left

AMSTERDAM, The Netherlands (AP)—Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller flew sadly homeward today convinced that only by a miracle would his son Michael be found alive in the savage jungle swamps of South New Guinea.

After a week at the search headquarters Rockefeller flew to Manila Tuesday, then left the Philippine capital aboard a Dutch airliner for Amsterdam.

He was to change planes at Amsterdam and arrive in New York at 8:30 p.m. EST tonight.

"We have to face realities," the governor told newsmen at Manila, adding that "only an outside chance, a miracle" could produce his 23-year-old youngest son alive.

The Australian air force announced today it also had abandoned its part in the search operation, which at its peak enlisted thousands of persons in land, air and sea rescue units. Dutch officials and teems of Papuan natives will continue to comb the jungle for at least a month.

Michael was last seen on Nov. 19 as he tried to swim to shore 3½ miles away from his native catamaran raft, which had capsized off the South New Guinea coast. A Dutch companion, Dr. Rene S. Wassing, remained with their overturned raft and was rescued the next day by a Dutch vessel.

PREPARE FOR WINTER DRIVING

The first snow of the season, which resulted in accidents to some motorists, delay and inconvenience to others, should serve as a reminder of things to come and a warning to be prepared.

Each year with the first taste of wintry weather we call attention to changed road conditions and the necessity for change in driving habits. For the experienced driver no warning should be necessary, but the new driver will find experiences fraught with difficulties and perils. To these new drivers we offer some suggestions by safety authorities who have made careful study of winter driving experiences.

Winterize your car and winterize your thinking and your techniques; keep frost, snow and ice from windshields; be sure wiper blades, heater and defroster are in working order; keep a good distance back of the vehicle ahead so that you will have plenty of room to stop, pump your brakes to maintain best steering control; reduce your speed as slower than normal speeds are a must on ice and snow.

Local street and highway department forces also should start laying plans now for their work ahead. Knowledge of local conditions and experiences of past seasons should guide them in projecting the effective system.

One method of efficient snow removal before the streets become impassable is to battle the storms while they are in progress. Waiting until the streets are buried under huge drifts is not the efficient way to operate. The same is true of icy street conditions. Don't wait until there is a big tie up of cars on hills and grades before sanding the streets.

Both motorists and highway officials should prepare now for winter driving.

FOUR MONTHS TO GO

When one's spirits are at low ebb for one reason or another, it is downright disheartening to contemplate the advance of winter. Thoughts of exhilarating sport in the winter wonderland fade into the background, on such occasions. What stands out is the prospect of shoveling snow, scraping the windshield clear, coaxing the old buggy into life, battling slush-bound traffic and paying big fuel bills.

To all of which the office optimist has a reply, of sorts. Not a genuine antidote to gloom—not the promise of months spent in sunny climes. Still, crumbs are welcome if the feast is denied. So here are the crumbs. Reflect, says the office optimist, on the poet's words, "If winter comes, can spring be far behind?" Before answering in the affirmative, he advises, count months: December, January, February, March. A mere four months, give or take a few days, until the first intimations of spring.

There it is, for what it's worth: Only four months to go, men. That's the thought to cling to as we plunge into winter.

NOTHING TO GIVE

Soaking the rich, via the taxation route, has long been a political technique that has paid off handsomely as a vote getter.

But the fly in the ointment now is, that as the tax boosters run up the total tax take, to the confiscation point, there aren't enough "rich" to meet their demands, so they have to lower their sights and increase taxes on the middle and low income citizens to raise the money to cover their spending projects.

The biggest political spenders, who advocate having the "government" do this or that "free" or "at cost" for the people, are very careful to refrain from saying that the government can provide nothing "at cost" or for "free" until it first takes the money away from them. You don't get something for nothing from government, because it has nothing to give until it first acquires it through taxes.

'These Days'

By GEORGE SOKOLSKY

THE MENACE OF WAR

Reverand George E. Bender, a Methodist minister of Lorain, Ohio, has written an interesting and thoughtful letter to the Lorain "Journal" dealing with the subject of war and peace. In the course of this letter, Mr. Bender, who is not a pacifist and who would be willing to fight for his country, says:

"None of us wants to be Red and none of us wants to be dead. What, then, is the best alternative? The best alternative is to put democracy to work where it is most needed. It is basic to our way of life that we believe in law and order, that we believe in representative government, in freedom of expression, in justice with due process of law and trial by jury. We also believe in free competition and in a police force to enforce the law."

These unfortunately have nothing to do with an alternative to war. The problem set before us is that Soviet Russia is engaged in building a world empire, to conquer all nations including the United States, to the end that Marxism should displace the social system which is expressed by Judaism, Christianity and all other human expressions in acknowledgement of God and of the Natural Law. Also Marxism would alter our economic and political system so that those who control the oligarchy that controls the state would control the life of every man.

What is the alternative to that?

Surely law and justice could be an alternative to Marxism if Soviet Russia did not choose to make war, cold or hot, upon us with the spoken objective of destroying our way of life. We face three alternatives:

1. We can prolong our discussion while the Russians conquer area after area, weakening us so that we are unable to withstand Russian power;

2. We can accept the Russian challenge and agree to become part of the Soviet Universal State;

3. We can fight for our lives and our civilization.

Thus far, it has been the American policy to try the first method — to talk things out, notwithstanding the undisputable fact of Russian gains. Soviet activities in Cuba, Panama, Brazil, British Guiana and other places bring them very close to us and lead to the conclusion that a shooting war can break out at any moment. Our Presidents, Truman, Eisenhower and Kennedy, have sought to stave off a fighting war, but the frightful day comes closer because of the Russian conclusion that our wish for peace is a sign of weakness, incompetence and degeneracy.

But we are faced with another danger, namely, that the cost of preparation for war, to meet the peril of Soviet terrorism, is so frightfully great that it is destroying our economic system. How long can we afford to carry a budget that runs about $100,000,000,000 a year? Where is the money to come from? With all of the world organizing into economic blocs, which are aimed at lessening our capacity for distribution, how can we maintain a currency that will be strong and that will protect the earning power of our people?

Reverend Bender says:

"These principles are good for us, and as free people we believe they are good for everyone. Let's begin, then, to put our beliefs into action among ourselves. A good place to start would be to lend all our efforts to work toward a federal union of the free nations of the world. Just as the 13 colonies gained strength against their common enemy by uniting, so now the free nations of the world can find added strength against Communism."

Two questions arise immediately:

1. Do we have time to establish "a federal union of free nations of the world?" We have been at that job in the United Nations since 1945 and are very close to the end of our effort there. In fact, every constructive task along these lines has to be done outside of the United Nations which is falling into the control of the so-called neutrals, who are not really neutrals but opportunists who shift hither and thither for their advantage;

2. What countries will join us in such a union? As it stands today, we have difficulty holding NATO together; what can we do to build a great force of free, anti-Soviet nations?

Emotional responses to current questions may be admirable but they will not save us from destruction.

Junk Those Excuses For Not Exercising

By HAROLD T. HYMAN, M.D.

Written for Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

From Theodore Roosevelt to John Kennedy, almost every president has preached the doctrine of physical fitness and has given an example of the virtues of what T.R. called "The Strenuous Life."

Unfortunately, all too many of us have permitted ourselves to become soft and flabby. And as a result too many of us have developed creaking joints from being too long in dry dock. And the "loafer's heart" from complete dependence on a motorized vehicle to take us on any trip that exceeds 100 yards.

Now among the many excuses we make for our slothfulness are lack of time, lack of the complicated equipment we see on TV commerciais dedicated to the advancement of weight-reduction and muscle-building, and our own advancing years.

We also cite the handicaps already imposed on us by joint disturbances of one sort or another, fear of imposing an added strain on an already burdened circulatory system, inability to meet the extra expenses of joining a gym, hiring an athletic instructor and so on.

Forgive me for telling you that there's no validity in these excuses. And, if you'll bear with me, I'll give you chapter and verse.

In the first place, you won't lose enough real weight through ordinary exercises or calisthenics to make it worth your while. To be sure, the scales will show a loss of 3 to 5 pounds immediately after you've worked out enough to get up a sweat.

But your tissues will soak up the water they've lost the next time you drink so much as a glass of water out of the tap. To say nothing of the contents of a bottle of your favorite carbonated beverage.

In the second place, the purpose of the physical fitness program I'm about to outline in another column is not muscle-building. That's for the lifesavers on the beach. Or the exhibitionists who seek to extract admiration by making you feel the hardness of their flexed arms.

The true and realistic purposes of the program are rather to add its mite to the weight-reducing diet that depends primarily on your self-disciplined efforts to eat less of the foods ordinarily served at table.

And to loosen your joints and stretch your muscles and tendons the way a cat or a dog does after it has lazed in the sun or before a fire.

Washington News

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — There is one new element in the triennial congressional wrangle over renewal of the reciprocal trade agreements act. It is Britain's application for membership in the European Common Market set up in the Treaty of Rome by Belgium, France, Germany, Italy, Luxemburg and the Netherlands. Ireland, Norway and Denmark also want in and other western European nations want association.

MANY AMERICANS SEEM completely disinterested in this subject, believing it doesn't concern them. But they are going to hear a lot about it in coming months, so they might as well listen.

And when people like Secretary of Agriculture Orville L. Freeman start shouting that a European Common Market agricultural policy might reduce exports of U.S. farm products, it touches every home in the farm belt.

In industrial and trade circles, the fear is that if all the European countries go in for economic unification, they will create the world's largest mass market of over 200 million people. The bugaboo built up is that this will hurt America's $6 billion export market in Europe and create a new competitor for U.S. exports in other parts of the world.

THE PITCH IS THEREFORE MADE that President Kennedy should be given new authority to negotiate with the Common Market on tariff rates to protect the U.S. economy.

Closer association of the United States with the Common Market is advocated in a report to the Congressional Joint Economic Committee by former Undersecretaries of State Will Clayton, D-Tex., and Christian A. Herter, R-Mass.

A subcommittee of this group under Rep. Hale Boggs, D-La., is opening hearings on foreign economic policy. A House Education and Labor subcommittee under Rep. John H. Dent, D-Pa., is opening hearings on the effects of imports and exports on U.S. unemployment.

These are but warm-ups for next year's full dress hearings on renewal of reciprocal trade agreements legislation before the House Ways and Means Committee under Chairman Wilbur D. Mills, D-Ark.

Kennedy is expected to announce his trade policy early in December. The administration bill to carry out the President's program will be the business before the Ways and Means Committee. After testimony from all the administration mouthpieces, opponents will get their inning.

OPPOSITION STRATEGY is to amend the administration bill, in committee or on the floor of the House and Senate, or to have bills they don't like recommitted for reconsideration.

During the last session some 75 representatives introduced resolutions to have Congress go on record against any further cuts in U.S. tariffs. There were also a number of one-item protectionist bills introduced.

A dozen congressmen backed a bill which would have narrowed the discretion of the Tariff Commission on what constitutes injury from imports. It would also have withdrawn presidential power to override Tariff Commission decisions.

None of these proposals made any headway in the last session of Congress in spite of almost weekly speeches by Representative Dent, Rep. Cleveland M. Bailey, D-W. Va., and others advocating higher tariffs and opposing freer trade.

One other tack which the opposition to a more liberal trade policy may take next year is to move for a one-year renewal instead of the usual three. This would be a political move to keep businessmen who are potential campaign fund contributors from clamming up for the 1962 elections.

The excuse for postponing decision on further reciprocal trade agreements extension until after the congressional elections next year is to wait and see whether Britain and other European countries join the Common Market and what effects there will be on American exports and imports.

Government Staff Shifts Held Fault of U.S. System

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON—The shifts in the staffs of the Department of State and the White House—involving ten positions that are related to the making of foreign policy—should be an eye opener to the American people. It is a tragic example of experimentation, lack of system, and the evil effect of partisan politics on the efficient conduct of government.

Already it is being said that President Kennedy learns well by "experience" and that his latest changes do not involve structure or policies but people. He himself says the shifts in personnel are intended to "provide more effective matching of people with responsibilities."

But these are mere euphemisms that gloss over a palpable defect in the political system. For why must the American people suffer a change of administration in the midst of a world crisis, and, when this happens, why must some of the most experienced personnel in the different departments of government be let out because they happen to be Republicans or Democrats, as the case may be? Does the British Foreign Office change its main personnel below the rank of Foreign Minister every time there's a change of party? Of course not. Continuity is considered essential.

Career Diplomats

The moment this example is mentioned hereabouts, however, the politicians immediately say that "career diplomats" are unimaginative or stodgy or lacking in capacity to administer. But who said that all "career diplomats" were capable in the first place? Does the fact that a man got his initial appointment though politics and served twenty years mean that this makes him an efficient member of the foreign staff? The answer is that in government, as well as in private business, there has to be a constant measurement of efficiency, and some one must be allowed to fire the incompetent and hire the competent.

Take the case of Chester Bowles. He came out of Madison Avenue's advertising world to enter politics. He was in the Office of Price Administration during World War 2, serving as Price Administrator from 1943 to 1946. He was later elected Governor of Connecticut and served as Ambassador to India for two years during the Truman administration. While a member of Congress, he had the foresight in 1959 to come out for the nomination of John F. Kennedy as the Democratic Presidential candidate long before many of the other politicians did. This helped the Kennedy cause. When convention time arrived, the Kennedy forces were able to name Mr. Bowles to be chairman of the all-important platform committee. It was a reward for his energetic service in behalf of the Kennedy candidacy in the preconvention months. He campaigned effectively later on, too.

When Mr. Kennedy was elected President, it was natural for the politicians generally to feel that Mr. Bowles should be given a real plum, perhaps in the Cabinet. He himself wanted to be Secretary of State. He was plainly disappointed when he had to be satisfied with the post of Under Secretary of State. At that time nobody argued whether Mr. Bowles could fill that job efficiently. Everything was in a tizzy anway. The New Frontier was being outlined as the new Utopia and "bold and imaginative" people were being extolled as prospective members of the new Administration.

Cuban Flasco

Then all of a sudden something strange happened. It was announced at inauguration time that a staff of advisers on foreign policy would surround the President at the White House even though Dean Rusk was designated to be Secretary of State. The speculation began as to whether Mr. Rusk or the Whie House staff would be the boss of the State Department and foreign policy. The glib answer given was that nobody but the President could be boss anyhow and that everybody would listen to everybody else's advice, and things would be all right.

Then came the Cuban "invasion" fiasco. It so happens Mr. Bowles, was one of the opponents of the adventure, so he seemed later to be vindicated. It now is being said apologetically that, because of all this, it wasn't politic or expedient to demote him at that time. Now it is being asserted that, while he is a man of imagination and ability, he is not an administrator. If true, it seems strange this wasn't known earlier. He now has been appointed the President's special representative and adviser on African, Asian and Latin-American affairs."

It is also being announced that some of those who have been on the White House staff will occupy positions at the State Department now, and that all this has the approval of Secretary Rusk. One wonders why it took more than ten months to find out that the Secretary of State either must be the boss or he becomes just one of a dozen advisers sitting around the President, who makes the final decision on foreign policy.

Sooner or later the American people will insist on continuity of government at the departmental level at least, and some day also they will sanction elections only at times when the national interest will not be imperiled. They will favor a system that doesn't permit nine months of campaigning to interrupt public business but one that permits an instant change at the helm if desired. Such a selection would be made — as in Britain and Canada — by the duly elected representatives of the people in the national legislature. They would choose as the nation's leader some one from the group of legislators who had already had leadership experience.

Britian Would Move UN to West Berlin

By LEON DENNEN
Newspaper Enterprise Analyst

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. — (NEA) — Britain again is urging President Kennedy to consider the transfer of the United Nations headquarters, or at least part of it, to West Berlin in an effort to solve the crisis over the beleaguered city.

A diplomatic friend noted for his wit and common sense dismissed the plan as unworkable.

"Look," he said. "West Berlin is in a state of crisis. So is the United Nations. Surley it is not rational to solve international problems by compounding crises."

Next, he suggested, someone might come up with the brilliant idea to transfer the U.N. to the Congo or to Laos or Viet Nam or Finland—wherever the Reds make trouble for the West.

"If the august international body is to be shifted from one area of crisis to another it eventually may have to be put on roller skates," the diplomat said.

Then, in a flash, he came up with an idea of his own: "If New York is to be deprived of the U.N., why not send it to Moscow?"

The diplomat was jesting, of course. But the idea of the U.N. in Russia obviously intrigued him.

First, he explained, there is the "educational value" that moving the U.N. to Russia will have for the neutral (or non-aligned) and emerging (or developing) nations of Asia, Africa and Latin America.

"For more than a decade many representatives of the neutral nations have grumbled — and some of the African delegates with a great deal of justice—about American democracy."

Well, he said, let them find out for themselves how good life is in a Communist dictatorship. "Let's see whether they can get into scraps with taxi drivers, policemen and waiters and benefit in Russia from the kind of total immunity they enjoy in a free country like the United States."

Then there is the question of colonialism for which many of the UN neutralists seem to have great nostalgia.

"In New York they are frustrated," the diplomat explained. "Whenever the neutralists mount the U. N. rostrum to attack American or British or French colonialism, they are well aware that they are beating a dead horse. After all, their very presence in the U.N. is a symbol of the fact that Western colonialism is dead or rapidly dying."

But in Russia, if the non-aligned representatives got a hankering for a bit of colonialism, they could easily refresh their memories by making a secret trip to Soviet-occupied Lithuania, Latvia or Estonia.

"If they are Asians, they might even decided to explore the "independent republics' of Georgia, Armenia or Kazakhstan."

It would indeed be a historic occasion to watch the neutralists denounce Russian imperialism from a U. N. rostrum in Moscow with the same violence that they attack mythical American colonialism in New York.

In the diplomat's view, shifting the U. N. to Russia would have unlimited "benefits."

For instance, this would also be one way of testing Premier Khrushchev's sincerity about admitting Red China to U. N. membership.

Asked the diplomat: "Can you imagine a U. N. meeting in Moscow in which Khrushchev, as host, has to sit silently while his "comrade and ally, Red China's Mao Tse-tung, pounds the table with his shoe as he denounces Russian revisionists?"

The United States also has much to gain from shifting the U. N. to Russia, the diplomat said. "The Russians might be compelled to share the U. N.'s financial burden and thus somewhat ease the plight of the American taxpayer."

President Kennery might even have an opportunity to mount a balcony in Moscow or Lenin's Mausoleum on the Red Square and speak to the Russians as Khrushchev did in New York.

Despite the jest there was unvarnished truth in what the diplomat said. The whole U. N. problem would be comic if it did not contain elements of great tragedy.

So They Say..

They (the rich) seem to want the city to be a compound where the poor will be clean, orderly and well-policed, and will provide fine airports and subways. And they expect all this to be paid for by the same people they would hire as household servants.

Shades of Prohibition Era

2 Violent Deaths Mark Dope - Smuggling Case

NEW YORK (AP) — Violent deaths, like those of the prohibition era, have overtaken two defendants in a multimillion dollar dope-smuggling case.

Another defendant tried to hang himself in his Bronx home.

May Be More

Prosecutors in the trial that started early this month fear there may be more.

They have twice asked Federal District Court to have the remaining 11 defendants taken into custody for their own protection.

Both requests were denied.

The case involves what the government describes as $150 million worth of smuggled heroin and with Italian immigrants used as pawns.

Federal authorities said the immigrants, coming by ship, would be asked to carry extra luggage belonging to other immigrants who were supposed to be flying here.

The flying immigrants, of course, never existed, but their false-bottomed luggage — containing heroin—did. Gang members at either end would arrange delivery and pickup.

Gangster-Style Slayings

The two men slain in gangster style were William Holmes, 38, a Negro who lived in a fashionable part of suburban Teaneck, N.J. and Albert Agueci, 39, of Toronto, Ont.

Holmes' bullet-punctured and bludgeoned body was found Aug. 9 on a Bronx street.

The charred body of Agueci, listed by the government as a top level man in the organization, was found in a field near Rochester, on Thanksgiving Day.

Identified by Prints

His hands were bound behind his back with wire. He had been strangled with a plastic clothesline and his body then doused with gasoline and ignited. He was identified by fingerprints.

On Nov. 9 another defendant, Arnold Barbeto, 26, tried to hang himself in his Bronx home. A psychiatric examination showed he was at present incompetent to stand trial because of impairment of judgment and memory.

Twenty men originally were indicted. Murder, bond jumping, suicide atempts and other developments now have cut the number on trial to 11.

Prediction Quadrupled

GATLINBURG, Tenn. (AP) — When the Great Smoky Mountains National Park was established in 1931, National Park Service Director Horace M. Albright predicted it would eventually attract one million visitors a year. Albright, who left the Park Service in 1933, returned recently for a visit and admitted his sights 30 years ago were too low. The park attracted more than four million persons last year.

Building Trades Fire New Salvo, Attach Peace Bid

BAL HARBOUR, Fla. (AP)—Building trades unions fired a return salvo today at their longtime industrial union rivals in the AFL-CIO, but attached a hint of peace bid.

President C. J. (Neil) Haggerty of the AFL-CIO Building and Construction Trades Department submitted a report for the opening session of his department's three-day convention, blaming the industrial unions for labor internal wars.

Demands Peace Plan

Only a few weeks ago the industrial unions, headed by Auto Workers chief Walter Reuther, blasted the building trades and demanded a peace plan to submit all inter-union disputes to final and binding arbitration, with the decision enforceable in the courts.

Reuther's plan was rejected by the building trades, whose leaders let it be known today they are working on a plan of their own. They gave no details.

It appeared likely that at least two, or perhaps three, disputes settlement plans may be put before the AFL-CIO convention here next week.

Al Hayes, president of the Machinests Union and chairman of an AFL-CIO committee trying to map a solution, announced last weekend that his group "has developed a procedure for final and binding settlement of disputes."

Advised of No Pact

Building trades spokesmen said their camp knew nothing of any agreement by the Hayes committee. In fact, Haggerty's report said the last meeting of the Hayes committee broke up in August with Reuther specifying that "nothing as yet had been agreed upon."

The feud concerns overlapping union work jurisdiction—a fight that has been going on for years but has been made more acute by heavy unemployment in many areas.

Greene Soil Group Named by Board

A Greene County Soil Conservation Committee was appointed Tuesday by Arnold Nicholsen, chairman of the Board of Supervisors.

Nicholsen named two supervisors, Clarence Lane of Windham and Kenneth Hill of Durham; Matthew Story Jr. of Catskill, representing the Greene County Farm Bureau; Jay D. Warner of Coxsackie, representing the Grange and Frank Moore of Hannacroix, member-at-large.

The five-man unit will meet shortly with William Schumacher, county agricultural agent, to set a course of action.

Third Name's a Charm?

NEW YORK (AP) — Actor Richard Malek keeps changing his stage name.

He performed in two Broadway plays under his real name in 1949 and 1950, then adopted John Heldabrand for subsequent performances. For "The Garden of Sweets" this season he has registered another name with Actors Equity — John Balzac.

The shift, he explains, stems from difficulty people had in spelling his first adopted name. The new one was chosen because one of Malek's favorite authors is the famous Frenchman.

Geneva Sees Gloomy Holiday

City Seeks New Industries To Save Economic Situation

GENEVA, N.Y. (AP) — This Finger Lakes city of 18,000 approached the Christmas season with economic fear and trepidation today, but with the hope that a month-old campaign to bring in new industry will prevent a business bust.

Geneva's hard-luck story was climaxed Tuesday with the word that the city's largest employer, the Geneva Machine Shop of the American Can Co., would close if its employes refuse to take a wage cut. The shop employs 500 persons.

To Dismiss 225

Less than two weeks ago, Ekco Products Co. of Chicago announced it would close its Geneva Forge Division here next February, leaving about 225 out of work. A civic committee headed by Mayor Harold M. Simpson was in Chicago today, trying to talk Ekco out of its plan.

Last spring, the Shuron Optical Co. pulled the lion's share of its operations out of Geneva, leaving 300 without work.

Geneva is only just recovering from the shut-down five years ago of Sampson Air Force Base, the giant training station that once had a military "family" of 36,000 persons pouring money into the area's economy.

It was still too early for any real reaction today to the American Can ultimatum, which was relayed by officials of Lodge 1830, International Association of Machinists. The union, which represents production and maintenance employes at the plant, votes on the issue Tuesday and company officials declined comment pending the outcome.

Asked to Take Cut

According to the union, now ending the second year of a three-year contract, American Can wants its employes to forego a 12-cent hourly raise due Friday and take a 25-cent cut Jan. 1. The present average wage is $3.10 an hour.

As in the previous cases of industrial closing, high labor costs and a bad competitive position were mentioned.

Despite the bad sound, Geneva still isn't on the State Labor Department's critical list of labor surplus areas.

"We aren't critical yet," said one businessman. "But if Forge closes, that will put us over the 7 per cent unemployment mark. And if American Can closed, that would put us way over."

Has Bright Spots

There are bright spots, however. In the Geneva area are many large employers. The Seneca Ordnance Depot at nearby Romulus employes about 1,000. So does Gould Pumps, Inc., of Seneca Falls. The television tube plant of Sylvania Electric Products, also in Seneca Falls, has almost that large a payroll.

In Geneva itself, a crane company employs 240 and a container plant of International Paper Co. more than 100.

Hobart and William Smith Colleges, with nearly 1,100 students and a faculty and staff of 100, pumps about $3 million a year into the community.

C of C Starts Drive

Now under way is a Chamber of Commerce drive for $225,000 to finance Geneva Growth, Inc. according to the lagest report, a substantial part of the money has been pledged. It will be used to promote the city and the area, to buy plant sites if necessary and to promote understanding among economic and political groups.

The campaign already shows modest success. A small electronics firm is "90 per cent sure" of selecting Geneva for a plant to employe 60 or 70 at first, perhaps as many as 200 eventually.

From such a beginning, business leaders hope, a substantial economic future can be secured.

Today's Business Mirror

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK (AP)—All the early signs point to record Christmas business in most sections of the nation.

So you'd expect most merchants to be happy. But many of them aren't.

In some cases this is because the gains in retail sales over a year ago aren't as fat as they had hoped—and perhaps planned for in their ordering.

Others bemoan the fierce competition and price-cutting that has pinched profit margins.

Complaint Characteristic

Still others contend that the consumers, while spending more this year than last, haven't loosened their purse strings as much as the record national figures on personal income would seem to justify.

And, of course, some merchant complaining is just a characteristic. Retailers as often as not are downhearted—if the weather has not been bad, the consumer has been lured by some current status symbol to spend his money for things that their stores don't carry.

But the early reports show the shoppers out in force—and many well ahead of the traditional day-after-Thanksgiving start of the Christmas buying season.

Big Season Is Here

Most stores have their biggest selling season now. Since sales in the final weeks of the year are so high a percentage of the year's total, a good or bad yule season can make or break a store's final profit and loss accounting for the year as a whole.

The Commerce Department reported personal income in October rose to a record annual rate of $425 billion. Helping in the $4-billion gain over September were longer work weeks, higher hourly wage scales for many, increasing dividend payments, a gain in total employment.

Sees Consumer Confidence

These fatter pocketbooks are what the merchants are counting on tapping between now and Christmas.

Some of the increased buying right now may be due to other things than the Christmas spirit. The delayed onslaught of cold weather in many areas is sending shoppers to the stores belatedly for such things as overcoats, winter suits, blankets.

And consumer confidence appears to be on the mend.

So the prediction of a 5 per cent gain in Christmas retail sales may well come true. Whether that's as big a gain as the population increase and higher incomes would justify, and whether it's enough to offset the profit squeeze in many lines is a matter of points of view: the view of the merchant, the consumer, or the government.

Glancing Over TV Bill of Fare

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP TV-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—Television's critics fill the air with cries for better quality. Top network executives talk grandly about their news coverage and documentaries. But fundamentally, the success and failure of television lies in its regular entertainment shows, the weekly programs—action, variety, situation comedy, dramatic anthologies—which are the meat-and-potatoes fare of the medium.

Whether the critics like a show or not, whether it is violent or cliche-filled, the final decision whether a bread-and-butter show lives or dies is made by the mass audience, as reported by the various ratings services.

One may quarrel with ratings, deplore the system which permits a mere sampling of viewers to determine whether a program perishes or survives, but it is the only way each bill-paying sponsor has found to let him know how many people are being exposed to his message. So believe them or not, the ratings will continue to have life-and-death influence on the medium.

But popularity is not always related closely to quality, freshness or even entertainment value. Sometimes it is a simple matter of position in a network schedule.

For instance, when ABC's "The New Breed," a routine police-action show, started this fall in a 9-10 p.m. spot in the network lineup, it was doing poorly. This was easily explained: it had two powerful rivals: CBS' Red Skelton and NBC's slick, professional "Dick Powell Show." In addition, its "lead-in" (the preceding show on the network) was an extremely weak entry: "Calvin and the Colonel."

A few weeks back, ABC removed the 30-minute cartoon show and shoved up "The New Breed" a half hour. This week, it reported triumphantly that the shift had resulted in almost doubling the audience. The shows were the same, the stars the same—nothing had changed except the time—and the competition.

Recommended tonight: "Hollywood: The Golden Years," NBC, 7:30-8:30—with Gene Kelly narrating; "We the People—1961," NBC, 9-10 — updating an old program with Douglas Fairbanks Jr. host; "The World of Billy Graham," NBC, 10-11—biographical special.

Some 17 species of penguin live in the southern half of the globe but only the emperor and the Adelie inhabit Antarctica.

33 Favor Unions For City Police At Poughkeepsie

A Poughkeepsie police lieutenant said Tuesday that 33 members of the city's police department have signed papers indicating their favor of a proposal to form a union.

Lieutenant George Traver said the number is two less than a majority. He said the uniformed force, not including Police Chief John L. Martin, comprises 69 men. The lieutenant said if a majority of the men sign up, he will meet with them to determine whether they want to form their own union or affiliate with an existing union.

Answer to Council

The move to form a union is in answer to reports of a compromise sick and vacation leave plan which the Common Council finance committee has under consideration, Traver said.

Patrolman Anthony Olivo, president of the Patrolmen's Benevolent Association, said yesterday that no conclusion had been reached by the Council committee on the sick and vacation plan.

"I think it is about time Lieutenant Traver and the men who are signing up for a union stand up and be counted," Olivo said. "I don't know of any signers."

Favor Unlimited Leave

Traver stated that he and many department members believe sick leave for policemen in the city should be granted on an unlimited basis.

Alderman Louis Fiore (D-Seventh Ward) commented, "'Lieutenant Traver is not the City of Poughkeepsie. We as members of the Common Council have to represent the taxpayers as well as the police department and try to be fair to everyone."

Fiore stated that the sick leave plan under consideration by the Council's finance committee, proposed maximum sick leave of 180 days for policemen in service 15 years or more. Other policemen would be credited with accumulated sick leave at the rate of one day a month.

On Mixed Marriages

CAPETOWN, South Africa (AP)—The Methodist Church of South Africa has issued a booklet declaring that "racially mixed marriages, provided they are securely founded on common cultural attainments and spiritual ideals, are not contrary to God's law, and man's law should not prohibit them." The booklet condemns the country's apartheid policies, and says "the only hope of preserving civilization and Christianity in South Africa is an integrated multi-racial community."

GOP Thinking, Not Talking On '64 Ballot

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — Party leaders attending the 14-state Republican Regional Conference are doing a lot of thinking, but very little talking, about the 1964 presidential election.

The official speeches and pronouncements center on the 11962 congressional elections and on Republican views of how things are going in Washington. The view—not good.

Asked about 1964, party spokesmen were not voluble.

Would the announced divorce plans of Gov. Rockefeller of New York hurt his chances for the nomination? Delegates generally agreed he was hurt politically—at least for a time.

The state leaders were generous with their applause for Sen. Barry Goldwater, R-Ariz.

There was likewise little talk about former Vice President Richard M. Nixon, who has announced himself as a candidate for governor of California.

We The Women

Let Miscreants Work Off Debt for Wrongdoing

RUTH MILLETT
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Slapping paint around, a group of teenagers in Houston, Tex., did $2,000 damage to a high school in a few minutes. When caught, their only explanation was: "It was just something to do."

Parents of all but two boys agreed to pay their sons' share of the damage. But two of the boys, whose parents said they were unable to pay, are being given a chance to work at $34-a-month maintenance jobs until they have paid their share.

That means that two of the boys are going to learn a valuable lesson from their spree of vandalism.

The two who have to work off the price of repairing the damage they did will learn that they, and they alone, are responsible for their own acts.

They will also learn just how costly thoughtless vandalism is—how many hours of hard work it takes to earn enough money to pay for being destructive, "just to have something to do."

It's a safe bet those boys won't take part in any more thoughtless acts of vandalism.

But what have the boys whose parents paid up for them learned?

Only that when they get into trouble, they can count on their parents to bail them out.

If we really want to put a stop to teen-age vandalism we ought not let parents pay up. We ought to make it mandotory that the teenager, himself, works off the debt.

That would be the one sure way to take the thrill out of paint-slinging, window-breaking, and all other such forms of "fun."

Princess and Son On Front Pages, Dad Scores Beat

LONDON (AP) — Former society photographer Antony Armstrong-Jones today scored his biggest photographic beat—the first pictures of his and Princess Margaret's baby son.

Housewives and young girls cooed sentimentally over breakfast coffee at the pictures of three-week-old Viscount Linley and his mother splashed over the front pages of Britain's newspapers.

The favorite was one in which the photographer father, now the Earl of Snowdon, had caught his royal wife with her eyes half-closed in delight, nestling her grinning baby against her cheek.

The pictures dominated the front pages. But not that of the Communist Daily Worker, which doesn't approve of such publicity for the royal family.

The baby made his public debut the day following the announcement that he will be named David Albert Charles and called David, the name of his mother's favorite uncle the Duke of Windsor.

David is also an honored name in Wales, St. David being the patron saint, and Armstrong-Jones prides himself on his Welsh blood.

The pictures were distributed at the customary rate of 4 pounds —$11.20—a print by a photographic agency that handled Lord Snowdon's work when he was a society photographer. It was estimated the agency would collect about 10,000 pounds —$28,000— at home and abroad on the series. Neither officials for the agency nor spokesmen for the royal family would say whether any of the money would go to Lord Snowdon.

Nytralite Names Office Manager For Local Plant

It was announced today that William J. Reilly of 83 Fairmount Avenue here has been appointed office manager for Nytralite Aggregate, Inc., which is constructing a lightweight aggregate plant at Eddyville.

Reilly, a native of Kingston, is a 1952 graduate of Kingston High School and received a B.B.A. in accounting from Siena College, Albany in 1956. He is a former sales representative for Miron Building Products and is married to the former Gail Brozman of Yonkers. They have two sons, David, aged one and a half, and Kevin, aged six months.

Reilly is the son of Justice of the Peace and Mrs. Arthur A. Reilly of Eddyville and holds the rank of first lieutenant in the U.S. Army Reserve.

The Nytralite Aggregate, Inc., installation with an access on Route 32, is situated on Fly Mountain, overlooking Rondout Creek.

Florida Opposes Hunters

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (AP) — The State of Florida says it doesn't want unauthorized treasure hunters probing around its old wrecked Spanish galleons.

The Cabinet has agreed to set up an advisory board of scientists to tell it which salvage leases it should grant.

Rep. Bernie Papy complained that unauthorized persons are pilfering some of the old wrecks off the Keys.

Winds Topple Yule Tree

PARAMUS, N.J. (AP)—A 7-ton, 80-foot Christmas tree at the Bergen Mall shopping center was toppled by high winds Tuesday and crushed an unoccupied auto.

No shoppers were in the immediate vicinity because the area had been blocked off, police said.

Indians were making the Arizona desert bloom over a thousand years ago. The Hohokam Indians dug canals 30 feet wide and 10 feet deep through the desert to irrigate the thousands of acres of land which fed their people. They built cities in the desert—miles from the nearest river.

Anti-U.N. Violence Mounts in Katanga

ELISABETHVILLE, Katanga (AP)—U.S. Sen. Thomas Dodd, D-Conn., crouched on the floor of the American consul's automobile Tuesday night as the driver sped through an angry mob of Katangan paratroopers. The paratroopers earlier had dragged two white U.N. officials from a dinner party and beat them with rifle butts.

Anti-U.N. violence mounted in the Katangan capital in the wake of the U.N. Security Council resolution authorizing U.N. troops to use force to arrest foreign mercenaries serving Katanga President Moise Tshombe's secesssionist regime.

Dodd, guest of honor at a dinner party given by an American, arrived with Consul Louis Hoffacker as the paratroopers were beating the two U.N. officials, a Briton and an Australian.

Hoffacker rescued the Australian, put him and Dodd on the floor of the car and drove them to the home of Tshombe, whom Dodd has praised in Senate speeches. Tshombe's personal guard finally secured the Briton's release.

Speaker System For School Bus Planned at OCS

The Onteora Board of Education has authorized the purchase of one unit of the so-called Balding- Bus-Kommand speaker system for a school bus.

Cost of one unit was estimated at $170, with the cost of installation set at $120 each, District Principal George R. Sullivan notified Board members at their November meeting.

It was suggested that if these are to be installed on all buses that they be purchased by the district, installed by the contractors and maintained by the district—and to remain the property of the district.

The system contains a three-way speaker hookup enabling the school bus driver to talk with pupils in the bus and at the front and rear of the bus.

The decision to purchase the unit is the outgrowth of a continuing study to promote greater travel safety for the district's students.

In reference to inquiries concerning the use of "stop sign arms" on the side of school buses, Principal Sullivan told the board that Watson I. Goodrich administrative assistant, had taken up the matter with a Mr. Dobbs in the State Education Department.

Not Recommended

Dr. Sullivan's report noted that: "Mr. Dobbs referred to New York State Motor Vehicle Law 375, Subdivision 20, which refers to flashing lights mounted on front and rear of school buses. He does not recommend the use of flashers on the side of the bus. He did not advise me not to do it and further stated there is one district in New York State using them. Under no circumstances will his department approve the use of this type of signal because they feel it is more of a Motor Vehicle Bureau matter than theirs."

"A brochure from the CAMPCO concern will be available for further details about this type of equipment," Dr. Sullivan's report concluded. "In the light of the recommendation of the State Education Department, it is suggested that we abandon the possibility of using this system in our district."

Dr. Sullivan also told Board members that the survey of the school building needs of the district is progressing satisfactorily and will probably be completed in published form in the first week of January. In the interim many small meetings and conferences are being held throughout the district for the purposes of encouraging public participation in the coming board proposal.

Board president Philip Gordon announced the appointment of two standing committees The finance committee will include Trustee Arthur P. Knight, chairman, and Trustees Marie Kleine, Harry Allen and Edward Unser. Serving on the construction committee will be: Raymond Cruthers, chairman, and Trustees Janet Greene, Anne Larys and the Rev. H. Chase Page.

Schimmerling: Old-New Author

(Editor's Note: Prof. Hanus A. Schimmerling, noted music critic, author and composer of Woodstock, wrote his first book at the age of 14. Following are excerpts from his forthcoming book, "Help Your Child and—Yourself." It is entitled The Case of Mrs. Kehlreyn):

Dr. X told me about his experience with one of his patients. Of course, without mentioning the patient's name. "It is interesting to observe," said the doctor, "how she changed during the last few months. An ardent lover of nature, she liked to hike for hours or to work in her large garden. One day she telephoned and complained about a headache. Since this had happened in the past more than once, I suggested that she take again some of the pills which had helped her in the past. I called up the pharmacy and said that the pills will be picked up by the patient. Afterwards I heard that she telephoned the pharmacy to send the pills over to her house. I also learned from her husband that the reason for this was some sort of fear to walk to the pharmacy, though it would have been a walk of only two blocks. From that day on, the patient anxiously avoided climbing the stairs to the upper two floors of her house where the bedrooms of the family are and she slept on a couch in the living room on the main floor.

"And how is Mrs. Kehlreyn now?" I asked. The doctor was was stunned and almost disturbed when I mentioned the name Kehlreyn.

"I did not mention any name," he said. "I would never disclose a patient's name."

"But you did," I replied.

"What do you mean," muttered the irritated physician and his voice sounded like a mixture of vexation and surprise.

"In the beginning of your story," I replied, "by using the pronouns she and her, referring to your patient, you excluded the entire male population of this community, that is about 50 percent of all residents and since she is obviously not a child, but has a husband —and a family which you mention in your story, even a greater percentage of the residents of our community is excluded."

"Who said that she is a resident of this community?", interrupted the embarrassed Dr. X. "This I could easily gather from your story," said I, "and even more than that."

"Didn't you say your patient did not like to walk to the pharmacy though it is only two blocks from her house?"

"There are two pharmacies in our town. The one is in a section where there are only a few houses with upper floors. None of them is less than four blocks away from that pharmacy. You said that your patient did not want to climb the stairs to the upper two floors of her house. There are four such higher houses two blocks away from the other pharmacy. Two of them are apartment houses, one is a two-family home with a very small garden and the fourth is a one-family house with a large garden. This belongs to the Kehlreyns. Didn't you say that your patient likes to work in her large garden?" . . . H. A. SCHIMMERLING.

OCS Board Hears Denial by Chief On Fire Menace

In a recent appearance before the Onteora Board of Education, Chief Albert Fox of the Olive Fire Department, denied having rated the Art Room or the all-purpose rooms as a fire menace.

Fox's statement was in rebuttal to a letter directed to District Principal George Sullivan by Charles F. Muller.

In his letter to the principal, Muller asked that his son James be excused from attending any classes in the art room or the all purpose rooms. The letter also said: 'These rooms have been called a menace by Chief Al Fox of the Olive Fire Dept. and they are the fire traps and health hazard which Mr. Fake of the State Board of Education recommended be repaired on March 20, 1959, in a letter to Mr. John Moehle. I cannot understand how a Board of Education can continue to jeopardize the lives of children in this manner. If you insist on sending James to these classrooms, I will withhold my children from the school and let the law take its course."

Fox, a former member of the OCS board, emphatically denied having made such a statement. He also read at length from a preliminary fire inspection report dated Nov. 14, 1961.

Excellent Drill

He rated a recent fire drill at the Bennett School as "excellent," but said there had been some confusion during a drill in the main building. He recommended that the school administration as well as the students be indoctrinated in the principles of fire prevention.

Fox noted that the fire chief cannot pull a fire drill without the consent of the school principal. For maximum results, however, it is highly desirable that the fire drill be a complete surprise, he added.

The fire chief also said that a fire protection and detection system be in operation in the building around the clock.

Fox's preliminary report covered inspection of the central building, junior high art room, the Bennett School, the library at West Shokan and the Ashokan annex,

The board took under advisement several of Fox's suggestions and recommendations passed a resolution authorizing the principal to engage professional services to correct them.

$10,000 Is Given To Aid Girl Hurt In Milton Mishap

A $10,000 contribution to the Pattie Corte fund was made by Hollywood producer Otto Preminger after a group of Washington press photographers and reporters voluntarily appeared in scenes for Advise and Consent in Washington.

Pattie, 15, suffered paralyzing injuries last July 7 in an automobile accident on Route 9W near Milton. The girl's father and mother and an aunt died as the result of injuries suffered in the mishap.

Pattie's father, Charles, was a photographer for United Press International assigned to Washington. The girl's younger brother, Kevin, recovered from injuries.

C. Ed Alley, former sports editor and photographer for the former Poughkeepsie Evening Star, now the Poughkeepsie Journal, is a leader in the Corte fund. Alley now is photographer for UPI in Washington.

Action Is Settled

A negligence action brought by Joseph Trainor of Highland against Royal C. Reed and another was settled in County Court Tuesday after it had been partially tried. The action was brought to recover damage to television sets which were allegedly damaged by water which seeped through broken water pipes. George Rusk of Rusk and Rusk appeared for plaintiff and Michael Nardone for defendant. Trial jurors were excused for the term.

Tickets to the concert are now available from members of the band and will also be available at the door the evening of the performance. Public is cordially invited. (Freeman photo)

3 Dutchess Men Plead Guilty to Gambling Counts

Indicted on gambling charges by a Dutchess County grand jury, three Beacon area men appeared Tuesday before County Judge John R. Schwartz and withdrew previous pleas of innocent and pleaded guilty.

Pleading guilty were Joseph Komornik, 61, of 221 Rombout Avenue, Beacon; George A. Hurst, 60, Roman Road, Town of Fishkill, and Charles Goetchius, 60 of 1 North Street, Beacon.

Sentencing was deferred until Dec. 15.

Five other defendants will be sentenced on gambling convictions tomorrow. They were identified as Frank Romano, 52; Wilford Green, Hubert Jones, James Rolicella and Lillimae Jones all of Beacon.

William Duncan, 54, of 15 Pershing Avenue, Poughkeepsie, who pleaded guilty previously to keeping a place for policy, will be sentenced Thursday.

Upstaters Pick Posner to Seek Ouster of Demo

ROCHESTER, N.Y. (AP)—William N. Posner of Rochester has been designated by 12 Upstate Democratic county chairmen to seek the resignation of State Committee Chairman Michael H. Prendergast, The Rochester Democrat & Chronicle said in today's editions.

The newspaper said the move was reported from a reliable source who declined to be identified.

Posner said the 12 chairmen had met Monday night in Clifton Springs. However, he declined to comment on the report of his being named spokesman in requesting Prendergast's resignation.

Posner resigned as Monroe County Democratic chairman earlier this year. He has been widely mentioned as a successor to the present state chairman, but has declined to say if he would accept the post.

The counties represented, the newspaper said, included Monroe, Ontario, Yates, Wayne, Seneca, Schuyler, Orleans, Livingston, Cayuga, Steuben, Genesee and Niagara.

SCAD Member Reports

NIAGARA FALLS, N.Y. (AP)—Negro residents in this tourist center have enjoyed less freedom than other non-white groups, a member of the State Commission Against Discrimination says.

J. Edward Conway said, however, that the situation was not unique to Niagara Falls. He said the Negro "is as cloistered (here) as in other New York State cities."

Speaking at a public hearing here Tuesday, Conway said that the variance in the non-white population pattern in the city was "quite large."

He said that 97.4 per cent of the Negroes in the city were living in five census tracts and 50 per cent of all the Negroes in the county were contained in one census tract.

Driver Escapes Injury

A 22-year-old Kingston motorist escaped injury early Tuesday when his car went out of control and struck a utility pole on Route 44 near Pine Hill Road, Pleasant Valley. State police at Millbrook said William W. Walton, Route 4, Kingston, told them he swerved to avoid hiting a deer and lost control of the vehicle.

Space-Sick Medicine

WASHINGTON—Drugs are a vital unit in the medical kit of the astronauts. Medicine at Work, publication of the Pharmaceutical Manufacturers Association, said that astronauts Alan Shepard and Virgil Grissom each took along four vials of drugs with hypodermic needles attached — handy for prompt self-administration. The publication noted that these drugs are designed to help offset uncomfortable sensations in flight, injuries, and to counteract physical and psychological disabilities resulting from gravitational differences or atmospheric variations.

No One Injured in Car Crash at East Kingston

No one was reported injured in a two-car traffic mishap this morning at East Kingston just north of Kingston City line, according to Kingston state police.

Drivers of the cars were Scipio Junior Boler, 30, of Hasbrouck Avenue, Kingston, and Edward Michael Sangaline, 18, of East Kingston. A passenger in the Boler vehicle was Richard Boler, 27, of East Strand, Kingston.

Trooper W. E. Wiedemann reported the Boler car was traveling north on Devils Lake Road and the Sangeline vehicle was proceeding south. As they both approached a hill crest, the Sangaline car was in collision with the left rear bumper of the Boler vehicle, troopers said.

Memoriam

In loving memory of Alfred Melbert, who died November 29, 1954.

As I loved him, so I miss him.
In my memory he is dear.
Loved remembered, thought of always.
Bringing many a silent tear.

Signed wife,
LORETTA MELBERT SCHOONMAKER.

Local Death Record

Sieczek took place on Sunday at Immaculate Conception. Officiating was His Excellency the Most Rev. Joseph F. Flannelly, D. D., Auxiliary Bishop of New York, who bestowed the honors upon Msgr. Sieczek in the name of His Eminence Francis Cardinal Spellman. The local pastor was cited for his untiring, zealous work as a dedicated priest.

Kennedy Hints

in what was really an exchange of views between Adzhubei and Kennedy. Adzhubei is believed here to have chosen this technique so that when the full record of the interview was published in Izvestia its readers were presented with the Soviet as well as the Western viewpoint.

Kennedy said that the desire of the Western powers is to maintain "a very limited number" of U.S., British and French troops in West Berlin and "to have, for example, an international administration on the Autobahn (German superhighway) so that goods and people can move freely in and out."

Seeks 15 More Peaceful Years

With those purposes secured, Kennedy said, "we can have peace in this area for years." At another point he said that there has been peace in Europe for 15 years and "the problem now is to see if we can reach a negotiation which can settle this matter for another 15 years."

Adzhubei said that the Soviet aim is to sign a German peace treaty—with West Germany and Communist East Germany as separate governments—and then to guarantee "freedom for West Berlin by every means—by troops of the four powers, by United Nations troops."

As to the problem of access Adzhubei said it was a simple matter because all that is necessary for the transport of people and goods across East German territory is to "ask permission of the GDR (East German government.)"

Won't Rely on German Reds

Kennedy told the Izvestia editor —and through him the Soviet people—that he understood the Soviet Union would give the East German authorities "the power to interfere" with Western traffic to East Berlin. He said the West could not rely upon assurances that the East Germans would not interfere with the traffic flow.

Kennedy made the Berlin problem the central concern of most of his discussion with Adzhubei, although he said the great long range "threat to peace" is the Kremlin's effort to push the Communist system outward, taking over one country after another.

U.S. officials predicted that sometime following a meeting of Western foreign ministers in Paris in mid-December, the Western powers will present to the Soviet Union their proposals for a Berlin settlement. These proposals are expected to be aimed in the first instance at strengthening the Western position in relation to Berlin and the declared long-range purposes of reuniting East and West Germany. In other words, they will be the starting point for bargaining.

They will thus counter Khrushchev's proposals for an East German peace treaty, converting West Berlin into a "free city," and turning the access routes over to East German control.

Link Important: Rusk

Secretary of State Dean Rusk said in a speech in New York Tuesday night that it is important to maintain "continuous communications" between the Western powers and the Communists because "we cannot afford to permit great powers to misjudge each other's intentions until it becomes too late to draw back."

But Rusk declared that negotiations between countries "with radical and irreconcilable differences" are full of "traps and pitfalls" and it is necessary to see clearly both the pitfalls and "our vital interests."

Over New York City, 80 per cent of all lightning bolts travel up from the spires of tall buildings, not down, because Manhattan is super charged with electricity.

Balaguer Gives Opposition New Election Offer

SANTO DOMINGO, Dominican Republic (AP) — A dusk-to-dawn curfew quieted this strikebound Caribbean capital Tuesday night as President Joaquin Balaguer negotiated with opposition groups demanding that he step down in favor of a provisional junta.

Informed sources said Balaguer had handed the three opposition groups a new proposal offering to hold elections within six weeks instead of next May provided he was allowed to continue in office as head of an interim coalition government.

The chief opposition group, the National Civic Union, on Sunday demanded that Balaguer give way to a provisional junta government headed by Viriato A. Fiallo, leader of the Civic Union.

Santo Domingo's streets were empty after dusk of all but authorized persons and heavily armed units of the army, navy and air force enforcing a curfew ordered after thousands backed the opposition stand with strikes that shut down almost every business and virtually paralyzed the island nation.

Balaguer warned public service workers that they would be fired unless they returned to their jobs today.

Tanks and armored cars rumbled through the streets after armed forces chief Gen. Pedro Rodriguez Echavarria — credited with crushing efforts by Trujillo diehards to stage a coup 10 days ago—declared the strikes an "assault against strike authority."

Lawyers to Attend One-Day Institute

Lawyers from the Hudson Valley area will attend a practical one-day institute on modern office management and administration at the Nelson House, Poughkeepsie, Saturday, Dec. 2, commencing at 9 a. m.

The institute, which is open to all lawyers; is presented by the Committee on Professional Economics of the New York State Bar Association in cooperation with local Bar associations of the Hudson region. Chairman for the Poughkeepsie meeting will be Albert A. DuPont, of Queens, a member of NYSBA's Executive Committee.

Speakers will include DuPont, Daniel J. Cantor, of Philadelphia, a law office management and economics consultant, and Robert I. Weil, research director for the Cantor firm.

To date, more than 1,200 lawyers throughout the state have attended similar institutes in Syracuse, Rochester, Binghamton, Buffalo, Jamaica and Garden City.

Union Executive Is Ousted After Charge Is Lodged

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — A vice president of the United Papermakers and Paperworkers Union has been ousted by the union's executive board on a charge of disloyalty for supporting members who took grievances involving the union to the National Labor Relations Board.

The ex-vice president, Frank Grasso, said today he would fight Tuesday's 11-5 ruling by the board of the 130,000-man union. He called the action "phony as the charges that were placed against me."

Grasso and the union's leadership split last year over the case of a group of Carteret, N.J., papermakers who were fired, with union approval, for refusing to accept a contract at a new plant. An NLRB examiner later held that the men had been fired illegally.

Grasso also had been active in pushing for the AFL-CIO union to adopt an ethical practices code that would bar negotiations by union leaders with management without consent of the union's locals.

Carlino Requests Complete Review Of Lane Charges

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)—A Manhattan Democrat maintains that politics persuaded the State Investigation Commission not to investigate a charge that Assembly Speaker Joseph F. Carlino had a financial interest in state legislation on fallout shelters.

The commission announced Tuesday in New York City that it would take no action "at this time" because the Assembly has a bi-partisan committee to deal with such issues.

Asks Committee Study

Carlino, Nassau County Republican leader, immediately urged the Assembly Committee on Ethics and Guidance to conduct "a full and complete examination of any such charges that have been or will be made. . .".

The committee is expected to proceed with a probe.

Assemblyman Mark Lane, Manhattan Democrat who made the charge against Carlino, labeled the investigation commission's decision "clearly political."

The commission, although bipartisan, depends upon Republican legislative leaders for funds, Lane said, and "the failure. . .to investigate is a gross breach of public trust, is understandable, almost predictable and clearly political."

Carlino Denies Charge

Carlino was a director and attorney for Lancer Industries, a Mineola company that makes shelters through a subsidiary. He resigned as a director a few days after the GOP-controlled Legislature, at a special session this month, adopted a $100-million program to help schools build fallout shelters.

Carlino has denied any wrongdoing and says the Lancer firm did not benefit by the shelter legislation. The company said its shelters are not designed for schools.

Carlino says that he received $300 in director's fees for attending board meetings and that his law firm received $5,000 in fees about a year ago for helping Lancer to form subsidiaries.

Assemblyman Donald Campbell, Republican chairman of the ethics committee, announced at his home in Amsterdam that he would call a committee meeting to discuss the commission announcement.

Consumers to and near Poughkeepsie, Beacon, Newburgh and Kingston.

Under the new tariff, one single rate will apply with block rates for usage above 2,600 cubic feet being from 20 to 45 cents per 1,000 cubic feet below prevailing winter rates but slightly higher at some points than existing summer rates.

Heating Rates Still Lower

In addition, the rates for consumption above 10,000 cubic feet monthly will be reduced still further for those customers who use gas as their only heating fuel year round. They will obtain gas at a charge of $1.35 per 1,000 cubic feet for consumption above the 10,000 foot level monthly whereas others will not benefit by that lower rate until their consumption passes the 100,000 cubic foot mark.

A bill comparison shows that a heating customer served under the commercial and industrial rate who uses 20,000 cubic feet in a month will pay $38.25 under the new tariff compared with $43.27 under present summer rates and $50.33 under winter rates. At the 100,000 cubic foot level, the new charge will be $146.35 compared to $173.37 in summer and $212.33 in the winter.

For non-heating customers, use at the 20,000 cubic foot level will result in bills of $44.35 compared with $43.37 in the summer and $50.33 in the winter. At 100,000 cubic feet, the new charge will be $182.85 as against $173.37 in summer and $212.33 in winter under present rates.

Nurses Group Recommends Rate Schedule

The New York State Nurses Association today announced its recommended schedule of fees to be paid to registered professional nurses, for private duty nursing service. At the same time, the association urged patients and families of patients to request nurses to show proof of their eligibility to practice nursing in New York State.

Mrs. Marie Stewart, RN, of Kingston, president of NYSNA District No. 11, said the recommended fee for private duty nursing for an eight-hour day is in a range between $20 and $22. Private duty nurses in District No. 11 presently receive $17 for an eight-hour day.

Hourly nursing rates recommended by the New York State Nurses Association range from $6 to $6.60 for the first hour or fraction thereof, and from $1.50 to $1.65 for each succeeding half hour, or fraction thereof.

The recommended fee for nursing two patients, on an emergency basis until an additional private duty nurse is available, is one and one half times the regular fee, with the fee to be divided equally between the two patients.

The recommended schedule of fees has been approved by the Private Duty Nurses Section and by the board of directors of the New York State Nurses Association.

"In order to protect the health of the public, all nurses are required by state law to be licensed and currently registered with the New York State Education Department," Mrs. Stewart said. "We urge all patients or families of patients, particularly those who employ private duty nurses to perform services outside a hospital, to exercise their prerogative by asking the nurse to show his or her current registration card. This card, issued by the New York State Education Department, is the nurse's proof of the current registration of his or her license to practice nursing in New York State.

"If a person, who claims to be a nurse, cannot produce the proper credentials to show that he or she is qualified and eligible to practice nursing in this State, he or she should not be employed to perform nursing services," Mrs. Stewart added.

Candidates' Themesong

NEW YORK (AP)—A hit song from last season's musical "Wildcat" is becoming a popular political campaign anthem. The publishers of "Hey, Look Me Over" granted permission to use the catchy tune—with local-angle lyrics—to both Democratic and Republican candidates in different parts of New York State, to the Conservative Party in South Carolina, and a non-partisan mayoralty candidate in Iowa.

U.N. Group Votes Condemnation of So. African Laws

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—The U.N. General Assembly voted new condemnation of South Africa's white supremacy laws Tuesday night but ruled out punitive boycotts or possible expulsion from the United Nations at this time.

Asian-African efforts to call for harsh trade and diplomatic penalties that would isolate South Africa, as well as a move to ask the Security Council to expel South Africa, failed to get the two-thirds majority needed for approval.

The United States, Britain, France and other nations accused of colonialism by the Communist and Asian-African nations voted with the majority in a 97-2 ballot that denounced the apartheid policy and appealed anew to South Africa to change it.

The Security Council shelved Cuba's complaint against the stationing of U.S. warships off the Dominican Republic as a show of support for President Joaquin Balaguer. No member of the 11-nation council, including the Soviet Union was willing to back up Cuba's charges with a formal resolution.

The United States and the Soviet Union launched a new round of private talks in an attempt to break the deadlock on resumption of disarmament negotiations.

Equipment Is Due

and will be moved Monday, Dec. 4 to the plant site at Fly Mountain between Routes 32 and 213, in Eddyville.

Kiln Due at ID

The four sections of the kiln will be landed at Island Dock and be transported over Route 213 to the plant. The big cooler will come into the Greenkill Avenue siding of the West Shore Division of New York Central Railroad and be moved out Route 32. The equipment will be hauled for a short distance on a semi-trailer and dolly combination.

The moving, it was explained, is being held over until Monday, since the city permit doesn't provide for weekend moving.

Play Vital Role

The various pieces of machinery which will play a vital part in the production of a high grade structural aggregate, vary in size. The kiln section lengths are comparable to a pair of average sized school buses. The cooler's length, about 90 feet, is equal to the length of two and a half school buses, according to Richard Schmidhauser, director of public relations for the company. The cooler is about 13 feet in diameter and is used to speed the cooling of the aggregate as it comes from the kilns.

He added that the equipment will be placed into position upon arrival. Its foundations, for most part, are already completed. The administration building also is nearly finished, only interior work remaining.

To Produce by Spring

It is anticipated, he explained, that the plant will be producing a lightweight aggregate by spring. Deliveries to customers will be made by barge, rail and truck facilities.

Next time you make applesauce, leave half of it plain. Add cinnamon to the other. Store the two varieties in separate containers and serve at different meals.

Financial and Commercial

NEW YORK (AP)—Silver-mining shares were sharply higher in an otherwise mixed and active stock market early this afternoon.

The Associated Press 60-stock average at noon was up 0.80 at 266.90 with industrials up 1.10, rails ahead 0.10 and utilities up 0.60.

Dow Jones average of 30 industrials was up 0.36 at 728.43.

The American Stock Exchange was mostly higher and trading active.

Corporate and U.S. government bonds were steady and quiet.

range of questions in the news conference.

In the midst of the halfhour session with 372 newsmen and onlookers he announced that the space-riding chimpanzee had taken off at 10:07 a.m. from Cape Canaveral, Fla.

"He reports that everything is perfect and working well," Kennedy said as his audience roared with laughter.

Kennedy, in reply to questions about the show of U.S. force off the Dominican Republic last week, said the United States would be most concerned" if one country in this hemisphere moved against another with force.

Questioned About Cuba

The President had been asked if the United States was prepared to use force to thwart any attempt by the regime of Fidel Castro in Cuba, for instance, to overthrow another government.

He said the United States would be concerned about aggression "particularly if its source" were the Castro regime.

Under questioning, he touched on these other subjects:

FALLOUT SHELTERS—As the administration moves to clarify its shelter program, Kennnedy said, the emphasis would be on community shelters to protect large numbers of people from the deadly threat of radioactive debris from shots in a nuclear attack.

CD Book Due Soon

He said the long awaited government publication on civil defense would be issued shortly and would contain advice for homeowners on protection and on what each individual can do.

IZVESTIA — Again, the President said he welcomed the opportunity to address the Russian peole directly through his interview with Soviet editor Alexei Adzhubei. Asked if he would also like to travel to the Soviet Union to speak personally to the Soviet public, Kennedy said there was invitation for him as there was when Soviet Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev visited the United States in 1959.

BOWLES—Kennedy said the administration shakeup which relieved Chester Bowles as undersecretary of state and made him the President's adviser on Asia, Africa and Latin America was designed to match men more effectively with government responsibilities.

Altogether 10 officials were involved in the shuffle announced last Sunday.

TRADE POLICY—Kennedy said congressional leaders would be consulted, but "a preliminary suggestion" toward a policy which would provide for the lowering of tariffs has been made and details will be announced in January.

Never Heard Proposal

When a reporter said Sen. Barry Goldwater, R-Ariz., had indicated opposition to this country's "becoming associated" with the European Common Market, Kennedy said he had never heard any proposal that the United States should become a member of that trading group or directly associated with it.

TRAVEL —Kennedy indicated he is considering a trip out of this country before the year is over but gave no hint as to where he might go or with whom he might confer. At any rate, he said, there are no definite plans. He did say he is not thinking of attending next month's NATO meeting and said any trip "depends on circumstances which may develop in the future."

CHINA—Kennedy said he had always felt "we did not make a determined enough effort" to save mainland China from the Commmunists. He made this comment when told there were Republican contentions that a speech Kennedy made in 1949 at Salem, Mass., on the loss of China was inconsistent with the President's recent speech in Los Angeles denouncing extremist groups.

Kennedy said that in 1949 he placed more emphasis on personalities than he would have today and added: "I would say that my view today is more in accordance with the facts than my view in 1949."

Decision Awaits Meeting

Nonetheless, Kennedy said, he believes history will record that the Communist take-over in China created "'a very strong imbalance of power in the world.'" He said he still believes "a greater effort would have been wiser."

NEGOTIATIONS—Any decision on negotiations to settle the Berlin crisis awaits a meeting next week between West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer and President Charles de Gaulle of France, the President said.

Ape Performs

age of 88½ minutes, which would mean an end of the flight at 2:37 p.m. (EST) if it would not become necessary to terminate it earlier. It was scheduled to land about 800 miles southeast of here.

A tape-recorded voice message was being received clearly from the cansule.

A huge recovery force of ships and planes was in the impact zone.

The National Aeronautics and Space Administration announced 15 minutes after launch that signals received from an Atlantic Ocean tracking ship indicated that the spacecraft was in a satisfactory orbit.

The launching was perfect from the beginning of liftoff. The Atlas dropped its booster stage as planned 2½ minutes after launch and two minutes later hurled the capsule loose on its intended trajectory.

The Canary Island tracking station offf the west coast of Africa caught clear signals from the craft at 10:22.

Enos was reported performing his tasks as intended.

There was no indication that his ability was stemmed in any way by the crushing force of blastoff or by the initial entry into the weightless state which was to last for all but a few minutes of the 81,000-mile flight.

Enos was reported in excellent condition as he waited out the long hours for blastoff on his 17,400-mile-an-hour flight.

In Capsule at 4:14

The 37½-pound chimp was confined in a space capsule atop the powerful atlas missile. He was placed there at 4:14 a.m.

If toda's flight is successful, the National Aeronautics and Space Administration expects to announce immediately the name of the astronaut who will make the first U.S. manned flight in orbit.

If all goes well, an automatic clock aboard the two-ton spacecraft will signal firing of reverse rockets as the vehicle passes over western North America near the end of the third pass. This will slow the capsule speed so it will descend on a slant angle to a parachute landing in the Atlantic Ocean 30 miles from Grand Turk Island, 1,000 miles southeast of Cape Canaveral.

A tremendous recovery fleet, including 18 Navy vessels and dozens of aircraft, was strung out across the Atlantic Ocean from the cape to the Canary Islands.

If Enos comes back unscathed and all elements of the flight, tracking and recovery are successful, a human astronaut will have a ticket on the next Atlas.

The National Aeronautics and Space Administration admits chances of achieving manned orbit this year are slim but it is prepared to pour hundreds of technicians and engineers into a 24-hour-a-day effort to try for it. Two Soviet cosmonauts, Yuri Gagarin and Gherman Titov, were orbited earlier in 1961.

Rocky Backup Choice

Enos was named for the pioneer flight Tuesday after a final series of physical and behavior tests. Rocky, a 31-pound male, was named backup passenger in the event something should happen to Enos—an adolescent 5½ years old and 38 inches tall.

Running third in the competition was a veteran space traveler—Ham, the chimp who rode a capsule on a suborbital mission last January and paved the way for the brief space flights of astronauts Alan B. Shepard Jr. and Virgil I. Grissom.

SUCCESSFUL INVESTING...

Science Stocks Risky, But Some May Be Set for Rise

Q) "I've noticed that a number of the science stocks which took a pounding earlier this year are now beginning to come back a little. Do you suppose that this group may be ready to move up again?" D. G.

A) Yes, I think that many science stocks have bottomed out and that a broad comeback may now be in the making.

Leaders such as Varian, Cenco, and Hewlett-Packard have recovered from oversold conditions, and, while periodic dips will probably still occur, I believe that the worst is over for most of the better grade science issues.

However, please do not take my observation as an out-and-out buy recommendation for every stock in this field. Rugged competition and financial difficulties have plagued a number of firms and the science label alone is certainly no guarantee of investment success.

If you are interested in growth and can afford a great deal of market risk, I think stocks like Microwave Associates and Beckman Instruments, together with the three named above, are pretty good buys at present levels. I regard these as more seasoned issues which, while speculative, are backed by the talent and earning power to remain strong factors within their industry.

Q) "I have 150 shares of Kendall Company and about $4,000 in a savings account. I am holding these for another party who is totally disabled and who has no prospects whatever of regaining his health. Should I keep the Kendall shares?" A. B.

A) A great many investors regard Kendall as strictly a textile producer and fail to recognize the firm's big position in health and hygienic products. Because of this, the shares still sell at a reasonable multiple of earnings, making Kendall a fairly safe stock for your friend to own.

Since this investment is backed up by an ample savings account, any emergency demands for cash should be easily met. I would continue to hold the shares.

Reaction to . . .

lever-pulling task. Then a 6-minute rest period.

Now a green light flashes in the right window. At the proper time hit the lever. Then watch for the green light to the right. And the thirsty chimp, who hasn't had a taste of water since the night before, plants his lips over a nipple and sucks out the first sips of some 1½ pints of water.

Demanding Test

And so the test demanded something more of Enos every time it changed. At one point, Enos gets banana-flavored pills as a reward for performing correctly.

At the end, he selects the unlike figure from three pictures that appear in the three small dashboard windows. He may pull the lever in front of the triangle, leaving untouched the levers in front of the two windows which show circles. Then he may trip the lever in front of the window showing a square, ignoring the two windows showing triangles.

Shocks Bring Him Around

Then he may make a mistake, and a slight shock pricks his foot. Or he may tire of the exercise, and another shock pricks him into action. He was right perhaps 60 to 65 per cent of the time during his schooling on earth.

The entire exercise takes perhaps 69 minutes, including rest periods, and it is repeated four times.

All the while a thermometer measures Enos' body temperature, another device reads his pulse, another his blood pressure and still another his breathing rate.

A special device taps his urine—and this may provide the final barometer of stress that the chimp endures. Later, scientists will check the urine for signs of used adrenal hormones—those remarkable chemicals that the body uses to prepare itself to meet stress. It is adrenal hormone that makes the heart beat fast and prepares the body for action.

From Enos and his special battle with space, scientists hope to learn if there is a real danger to man, a real danger to U.S. astronauts who follow.

ment received a call from Moses that he had been mugged and robbed on lonely Albert Road, Bloomington, where he had gone to park with a girl known only to him as Sarah whom he had picked up in a Kingston tavern. He reported that as soon as they parked a group of men came along, pulled him from the car, attacked and robbed him of a bankbook, change and his watch.

The men, he said drove his car 600 feet down the road, the girl going with them. They ransacked the vehicle, tossed away the keys and fled in their car. He hiked two miles into Bloomington to a telephone.

Identified Pair

Sunday night, a man identified by Deputy Sheriff Thomas Mayone as Robert Jones, was seated at the bar in the same tavern when Reid and the Highe girl walked in. He called Moses who in turn phoned the Kingston Police Department. Detectives Slover and Floyd Krom took Moses to the tavern where they said he identified the pair. Reid and Sarah were taken to the sheriff's office where after more than 12 hours of questioning, Deputy Mayone said the girl admitted her part in the incident and named four men who were immediately picked up by Chief Abe Rand of Ellenville and held for the sheriff's department. Further investigation resulted in the pick-up of Sarah by Ellenville police. She was turned over Tuesday night to Deputy Sheriffs Richard Drew and Joseph McNeirney who took her before Justice Brodsky and then to county jail.

The sheriff's department said excellent cooperation on the part of Kingston and Ellenville police aided greatly in the solving of the mugging and robbery.

Also assisting in the inquiry and arrests were Deputy Sheriffs Charles Dullea and John Tuey.

New Policy Would Recall All Notes Backed by Silver

By FRANK CORMIER

WASHINGTON (AP)—The silver certificate, a familiar item of currency since 1878, will disappear from circulation if Congress approves President Kennedy's new silver policy.

All $1 and $2 bills are silver certificates, as are some $5 and $10 bills. All of these would be discarded during the next 25 or 30 years, to be replaced by Federal Reserve notes which are backed by gold.

Needs Approval

While Congress would have to approve this part of the Kennedy plan, the President ordered Tuesday an immediate end to Treasury sales of silver at artificially low prices.

This will lead at once to an increase in the market price of silver, which perhaps will rise from the old pegged rate of 91.5 cents an ounce to $1 or more. As a side result, manufacturers are likely to increase prices on jewelry, silverware, photographic film and other items with a high silver content.

The Kennedy program would represent the most important national change in silver in many decades. In effect, the President wants to end silver's status as an important monetary metal and make it a freely traded commodity, like copper or soybeans.

The program, drafted at the Treasury, also would end the recurrent and often bitter political battles over Silver. The metal would have no more political appeal, under the new plan, than any other mining product.

Motivated By Decline

Kennedy's decision stemmed from a steady decline in the Treasury's supply of "free silver" not needed for currency backing. This supply dropped from 123.5 million ounces on Jan. 1 to 22 million ounces as of Monday night.

The stockpile of free silver has declined because of purchases by silver users at the Treasury's sales price of 91.5 cents an ounce and because of silver withdrawn for use in coins.

Kennedy directed the Treasury to stop using the stockpile as a source of supply for coinmaking. He said that henceforth silver needed by the mints should be withdrawn from monetary reserves, with an equivalent amount of silver certificates pulled out of circulation at the same time.

Treasurer Resigns

Members of the New Paltz Village Board will meet in the near future to appoint a treasurer to succeed Mrs. Hildur Hogan whose resignation becomes effective Friday. The Board recently awarded a contract to James Berardi Co., of Kingston for installation of a 400-foot sewer line on Harrington Street. The successful bid was for $23,800.

Going to Own School

NEW ORLEANS, La. (AP) — White children who have boycotted two public schools since they were desegregated in November 1960 will begin classes Monday in a private, segregated school built with funds donated by white parents.

The one-story, concrete-block building has 10 classrooms and will accommodate 350 students.

Single Chief Is Urged for All World Commands

NEW YORK (AP)—Creation of a supreme commander for U.S. commands all over the world is recommended in a secret report recently submitted to Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara, the New York Times said today.

The story by Hanson W. Baldwin, the newspaper's military editor, said the recommendation is viewed by some Pentagon experts as a long step toward establishment of the controversial General Staff with a single chief to replace the existing chiefs of staff.

The proposal is the salient recommendation in a report by a committee formed in September by McNamara to advise him about tightening and improving command and control channels in the missile and nuclear age.

Interview Adds Little New But Could Mean Hope for Reasonable Berlin Ties

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy's interview with a Russian newsman—published in full in Russia — didn't contain much that was new but it accomplished a few things.

They could be listed this way:

1. He washed out for the West Germans any illusion they might have — or their politicians were keeping alive—that they might be reunited with Communist-held East Germany or that this country would put up a battle for reunification.

He said "we recognize that today the Soviet Union does not intend to permit reunification and that as long as the Soviet Union has that policy, Germany will not be reunified."

Assurance Vital Point

2. Kennedy assured the Russians—and this may have been a vital point in their hostility to West Germany—that this country not only would not give the West Germans nuclear weapons but expressed reluctance to see them make their own.

3. Since the interview was to be published in full in Moscow, it gave him a chance to get his views in detail across to the Russian people whose knowledge of the American position is probably very fragmentary.

4. By showing no belligerence at all he left the door open to reasonable dealings with the Soviets while, because of the contrast it would provide, making it a little more awkward for Premier Khrushchev to sound extreme.

Khrushchev himself in recent months has been very mild compared with his statements on Berlin last summer.

Both Get in Licks

5. Kennedy got in some propaganda against Communist expansion and its suppression of freedoms—specifically its not permitting free elections in the satellite countries — in the Soviet government's own newspaper, Izvestia.

But he did not have the propaganda field to himself. Khrushchev's son-in-law, Alexei Adzhubei, the editor of Izvestia who interviewed him, got in some licks against the support this country has given tyrants and reactionary regimes.

Since this wasn't an American-type news conference limited to questions and answers, Adzhubei was able to express Russian viewpoints, knowing they would be published in his newspaper side by side with Kennedy's.

Both Kennedy and Adzhubei had their thinking well-organized before they sat down together. So there was no stumbling. Their replies to each other were so quick and to the point it was as if each had seen what the other would say beforehand.

Nothing Sensational

But there was nothing sensational in the give-and-take, any more than there was in the three interviews Khrushchev gave this year to American newsmen in Russia.

Both Kennedy and Khrushchev used the interviews for getting across their viewpoint. But, since their viewpoints already were well known to each other, neither could be surprised by what the other said.

What could be considered new in Kennedy's interview were these two points:

1. The West will consider — in dealing with Russia about keeping West Berlin open to the West—an "international administration" on the highway linking West Berlin with West Germany.

The idea behind this is to set up machinery which would be in effect a Russian guarantee that people and goods could travel freely between the city and West Germany.

2. The West might consider an agreement between the Western Allies in NATO and Russia and its satellites in the Warsaw military alliance "to live in peace with each other."

Only Pious Sentiment

Such an agreement, if made, wouldn't be any more than the expression of a pious sentiment since the agreement would go out the window any time either said it wanted to attack the other.

All in all, while the 8,000-word interview didn't add much new, it may have done a little toward moving nearer reasonable relations on West Berlin, a subject Russia and the West have now been talking about for months.

It might not seem unreasonable if people everywhere now began to ask when the statesmen on both sides would get tired of talking at each other across oceans and frontiers and start sitting down to talk to each other.

Shelter Insurance Doesn't Cover Fall by Owner

SHELBYVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — John Rowe is back at work after spending 19 days recovering from a fall into his fallout shelter.

The 12 x 36-foot underground shelter he built brought lavish praise from civil defense engineers. Such crowds came to see the model shelter that Rowe bought a $10,000 insurance policy as protection in case anyone got hurt around it.

He discovered a hitch in the policy after he fell through the escape hatch, cracking several ribs. He wasn't covered.

Kramer Proposes New Plan To Review Labor Disputes

NEW YORK (AP) —Jay Kramer, chairman of the State Labor Relations Board, proposes that "intelligence teams" be set up to study critical labor-management situations before crises occur.

His plan calls for creation of the teams by governmental agencies responsible for dealing with such problems.

Kramer submitted the proposal Tuesday at a hearing before the Joint Legislative Committee on Industrial and Labor Conditions.

The public hearing is designed to help the committee recommend labor and industrial bills for the 1962 Legislature.

Kramer called his proposal a new technique to ward off major strikes.

Must Improve Methods

"Unless we do something," he said, "we're going to have compulsory arbitration. We've got to do something about improving voluntary methods."

He suggested that federal, state and city legislative bodies participate in setting up the teams to make advance studies and spot the real issues in a dispute. Private mediators also would work in fields where big strikes might occur.

This exploratory machinery, Kramer said, might bring out the real facts before leaders of various factions "try to become heroes in the headlines." He said that in some major labor disputes "95 per cent of the stuff is beneath the surface."

Helped Settle Strikes

Joseph E. Finnegan, chairman of the State Board of Mediation, told the legislators that the board's efforts have been hampered because both industry and labor have been "hardening" in their contract bargaining.

Despite this, he said, his department was able to help settle or forestall 322 strikes in the first nine months of this year.

The State AFL-CIO presented to the committee a program calling for higher wage minimums, higher unemployment and workmen's compensation insurance, better safety regulations and other benefits.

10th Baby on House

KNOXVILLE, Tenn. (AP)—The Charles G. O'Connor's 10th child, born during the weekend at St. Mary's Hospital, was "on the house."

O'Connor, a food broker, said Tuesday the hospital "told my wife we needn't pay for this one," because the couple has been such a regular customer.

Chocolate "shot" is great to keep on th pantry shelf to sprinkle over a white cake frosting as a change from nuts.

Will Study Plans For Shelters to Protect Patients

HARRISBURG (AP) —Fallout shelters may be the answer for most Pennsylvanians in the event of a nuclear attack, but what about the prisoner at Rockview, the mental patient at Torrance or the woman at the old age home in Zelienople?

Can the state provide protection for these people against the devastating effects of radioactive fallout?

The Department of Public Welfare and the state's Bureau of Corrections are looking into the matter.

The Public Welfare Department has scheduled a special meeting for Dec. 13 to discuss civil defense.

Invited to attend are Pennnsylvania's Civil Defense Director Richard Gerstell, representatives of the State Health Department and directors of the state's health institutions.

Welfare aides expect the conference to serve as a stepping stone toward concrete civil defense programs at these institutions.

The situation at state prisons is another story.

Arthur T. Prasse, commissioner of correction in the Justice Department, explained it, the state's maximum security prisons already have "natural" fallout shelters in the form of underground maintenance tunnels.

The tunnels—about 6½ feet wide and 6½ feet high—are used for maintaining steam and heating pipes and electric wiring at such security prisons in eastern and western Pennsylvania, Huntingdon and Rockview.

However, he added, the prisoners would most likely be evacuated from the prison and transferred to a rural area remote from the fallout center.

Pastry made with flour and cornmeal is fine to use when you want a topping for a deep-dish fish and vegetable pie.

Feel Missing Hunter May Be in Ravine

SPRINGVILLE, N.Y. (AP) —A 17-year-old hunter, missing since Thanksgiving Day, may have tumbled into a ravine in the Zoar Valley's craggy terrain, searchers theorized today.

Stephen Szathmary of Niagara Falls became separated from his father, Joseph, 60, and brother, Paul 25, while deer hunting in the Zoar Valley in nearby Cattaraugus County. The section is heavily wooded and marked with many ravines.

RELIGIOUS: According to the children, if you keep your fingers crossed, a lie doesn't count. The idea probably alludes to the religious practice of making the sign of the cross before starting prayers (a devout practice in the Roman Catholic and other churches). Oddly enough, it is not common in countries outside of America, and seems to have been started entirely by children.

CHILD RESCUED AS MOTHER PRAYS—Mrs. Evelyn Reeder prays at foot of a ladder in Upper Arlington, a suburb of Columbus, Ohio, as firemen rescue her two-year-old daughter, Regina, from a flame and smoke-filled home, Monday. Firemen and police hold the child on the roof just after taking her from other firemen inside the house. Mrs. Reeder is flanked by her two young sons. Regina is recovering in a hospital. Erie Budget Voted, Is Up $5 Million

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP) — The Erie County Board of Supervisors has adopted an $80,638,295 county budget for 1962, which is a $5 million increase over last year's record budget.

The vote was 28-23 Tuesday with the Republicans getting one independent Democratic vote for a majority. The board is split, 27-27. The other Democrats were absent.

Switchman Killed

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP) —Frank J. O'Brien, 59, of Buffalo was injured fatally Tuesday when he was pinned between a freight car and a loading platform at a waterfront grain mill. He was a switchman with the Buffalo Creek Railroad.

Upstate Mayor Dies

CELORON, N.Y. (AP) — Floyd F. Young, 65, mayor of this Jamestown suburban village, died Tuesday at his home. He had been serving his seventh two-year term.

Sunday Blue Law Tests Are Slated After 3 Arrests

BUTLER, Pa. (AP)—The first court test of the state's controversial new law prohibiting Sunday food sales by stores employing 10 or more persons is expected to result from the arrests Tuesday of three officials of a supermarket chain.

Milton Friedman, president of Friedman Supermarkets; Harold Friedman, vice president; and Ronald L. Safier, treasurer, were charged with violating the 1961 Blue Law. They are accused of operating a supermarket last Sunday in the nearby Bon Aire shopping center.

An official for the State Justice Department in Harrisburg said the arrests are believed to be the first involving the new statute.

Slam Follows Part Score

BY OSWALD JACOBY
Written for Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

When you respond one-over-one with a large part score you expect your partner to find some rebid, unless he has a minimum hand and likes your suit.

Thus, North's two-spade rebid showed both spade support and better than a minimum opening bid.

South knew that three spades would be safe and decided he could afford to invite a slam with a three club bid. North's three diamond call represented an acceptance of the slam invitation and South jumped to four spades to show further slam ideas.

North's five-club bid showed second-round control of that suit and was enough to enable South to jump right to the spade slam.

North was tempted to go to seven, but decided that discretion was the better part of valor and settled for six.

It was well that he did, because trumps failed to break. In fact South had to play carefully to make six. He won the opening diamond, took two rounds of trumps and went after the hearts. East could have trumped in on the third lead, but if he had done so South would simply chuck his losing diamond. Now South played the ace of clubs, ruffed a club, ruffed another heart, ruffed another club, and finally discarded his diamond on dummy's last heart.

The Mature Parent

BY MRS. MURIEL LAWRENCE

Acts of Kindness Stir False Hope in Recipients

Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

A lady novelist once visited a boys' reformatory where I worked. Learning that the boy assigned to show her around had no relatives who acknowledged him, she felt so sympathetic that she asked permission to entertain him in her own home on weekends and holidays. With some anxiety the request was granted.

For a while the visits went well. Then one weekend she had to tell her guest that he could not accompany her own children to a party because he had not been invited. He seemed to take this news in his stride but did not return to the reformatory.

It took three months to locate the truant and much, much longer than that to help him overcome the bitter resentment he felt toward the woman into whose kindness he had read a promise of solution to his homeless, unloved state.

I report this story for a Mrs. C who writes, "A young girl friend of my daughter has a very unhappy home. She has gotten into the habit of running to me after scenes with her parents who have now forbidden her to see me. I'm the only adult she trusts and am afraid to refuse to let her come to me even against her parents' wishes . . ."

Are you prepared for resentment in this troubled girl when she discoveres that you cannot solve her problems for her?

"Kind" people are often unaware of the expectations their kindness arouses in those who are suffering from great emotional stress.

We can so enjoy our own charitableness that we can't see how the weakened depender on it glorifies our intentions toward him. Then the inevitable happens.

The distressed person discovers that our kindness is not enough. We are unable to give him the magic solution he expects of us. He glimpses the terrifying truth that he is responsible for his own life and can be flung into a desparing hate of us that is too big for him to handle.

This is common human experience. A loved person dies—and we hate God. That we ourselves have pledged God to a promise to spare us the experience of helplessness never occurs to us—any more than it occurred to the boy of this column that he had invested a kind stranger with the power to justify the pain and humiliations of his past.

Whether you should continue to see this girl against her parents' wishes, I can't tell you. I can only warn you against a kindness that implies you are the answer to her distress.

By mistaken kindness we can actually sidetrack events that would force this family conflict into the open and get this child the professional help she needs to start facing herself instead of running to you.

Schuyler to Represent Governor at Funeral

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — Gen. Cortlandt V. R. Schuyler, commissioner of the state office of general services, will represent Gov. Rockefeller at the funeral of U.S. Sen. Styles Bridges, R-N.H.

The funeral is at the New Hampshire State Capitol at Concord.

Schuyler was designed Tuesday.

Rockefeller is en route home after an unsuccessful search in New Guinea for his son Michael, missing on an expedition to find native art.

Sullivan County Doctor's Son Is Up for Murder

HOBBS, N.M. (AP) — Two youths, one the son of a Sullivan County, N.Y., doctor, are charged with the slaying of a Hobbs dentist.

Steve Patlin Schwartz, 21, son of Dr. and Mrs. Felix Schwartz of Hurleyville, N.Y., and Talton Tipton of Hobbs, are charged with murder, armed robbery and conspiracy in the shooting last Wednesday of Dr. Victor G. Cook, 53.

Asst. Dist. Atty. C. N. Morrris said Schwartz admitted in a written statement that he shot he denist during a holdup attempt.

Schwartz moved to Hobbs last month after he dropped out of the University of New Mexico, where he was a sophomore pre-medical student.

An irate guest at a small-town inn grabbed the telephone and hollered into it,

Irate guest—Are you the confounded desk clerk of this dilapidated joint?

The nettled clerk answered.

Clerk—Yes, I am. What's eating you?

Irate Guest—That is what I'd like to know.

Jack—Why does a warm day give an icicle a bad reputation?

Mack—I don't know, why?

Jack—Because it becomes an eavesdropper.

Father was giving his easily-frightened little daughter a talk on being brave. After he finished, the girl asked.

Little Daughter — But ain't you 'fraid o' cows and horses?

Father—Of course not.

Little Daughter—An' ain't you 'fraid o' bees an' thunder 'n lightnin'.

Father—Most certainly not.

Small Daughter — Gee, pop, guess you ain't 'fraid o' nothin' in the world but mama.

Do rattlesnakes ever climb trees?

Rattlestakes do not habitually climb trees because they are poorly adapted for such an accomplishment, but there is unquestionable evidence that some species do so occasionally. While William T. Hornaday was director of the New York Zoological Park he wrote: "From our six species of captives, we have learned that rattlers climb bushes with almost as much ease as professional tree-climbers, but in a wild state it seems fairly certain that they rarely do so." Many species of snakes are expert tree climbers. For instance, the dreaded mambas or tree cobras of tropical Africa are strictly arboreal and they frequently bite natives on the head and shoulders as they travel along forest and jungle paths. In art and in stuffed specimens in museums arboreal snakes are often conventionally represented coiled closely around the branches and trunks of trees. Actually live snakes do not coil their bodies closely around branches. When a snake climbs a tree it extends the body in a more or less straight line and glides up. It is able to raise itself by gripping the bark or other projections with the tips of its expanded ribs and pressing against the tree with the concave rows of pointed scales. When it reaches a branch it does not coil around it but maintains its position by clinging along its upper surface. Only the tail of a snake is prehensile and capable of being coiled around a limb in a corkscrew fashion. A snake will coil its tail completely around a limb on which it is resting or when it hangs down or reaches toward another limb.

Attempted Sale Charge Out in Drug Case

SYRACUSE, N.Y. (AP)—One of four charges against three persons from Buffalo has been dismissed in a trial involving narcotics charges.

Judge Leo W. Breed of Onondaga County gave no reason for dismissing a charge Tuesday of attempted sale of heroin against Burnie McCall, 38, Marie Stringfellow, 29, and Edward P. Corley, 33. Three other felony counts remain against the three. The defense rested its case Tuesday.

They and John L. English, 30, of Syracuse are on trial on charges of conspiring to sell narcotics in what police said was planned as a multi-million dollar international dope ring.

The other charges against the Buffalo defendants are possession of heroin and possession of Heroin with intent to sell.

Reservoir Charge Lists Services For Coming Week

Women of the West Hurley Methodist Church will invite guests to the first Woman's Friendship Luncheon, at the church at noon, Thursday. All the women of the church may attend and bring a friend and food for themselves and their guests. A nursery for pre-school children will be provided during the program. Mrs. William Hunter, the pastor's wife, will introduce the group to Church World Service, the world-wide relief arm of Protestantism.

Advent, will be the theme of the Sunday services at Ashokan, 9:30 a. m.; West Hurley, 11 a. m., and Glenford, 12:30 p. m. until Christmas.

Other women's activities include the Ashokan pre-Christmas sale on Friday and Saturday afternoons and evenings, featuring many valued items for Christmas giving, the Ashokan WSCS executive committee meeting at 10:30 a. m. and Dorcas Circle 1 meeting at 1:30 p. m. both on Thursday, at the Charles Sickler home.

Church schools include those Sunday at West Hurley, 9:30 a. m.; Ashokan, 10:45 a. m.; and Glenford, 11:30 a. m.; and the weekday church school Thursday for West Hurley School children at 2:20 p. m.

Choir practices are West Hurley junior choir, 7 p. m., and senior choir, 8 p. m.; Glenford choir, 9 p. m., all on Thursday nights, and Ashokan junior choir, 7:30 p. m., Friday.

The business of the church will be discussed at the many meetings this week. Officers of all churches will meet Saturday, for the commission on missions 1 p. m., the Jack Bennett home; and Monday, Dec. 4, for the commission on Christian social concerns at 8 p. m., the Allen Wenner home. Many church officers will also be called for the sub-district stewardship meeting at St James' Methodist Church, Kingston, at 8 p. m., Dec. 5.

The West Hurley business night, Monday, Dec. 4 will include commission meetings as called at 7 p. m. and official board at 8 p. m.

Airline Can Suspend Service at Po'keepsie

WASHINGTON (AP)— Mohawk Airlines had federal authorization today to suspend service at Poughkeepsie, N.Y., as long as the Dutchess County airport was inadequate for use by the line's Convair and Martin aircraft.

The Civil Aeronautics Board granted the permission Tuesday.

Democrat Is Mayor For First in 24 Years

ROCHESTER, N.Y. (AP)—The first Democrat in 24 years has been named mayor of Rochester.

Councilman Henry E. Gillette was unanimously chosen Monday for the post at a party caucus. He succeeds Republican Councilman Peter Barry, Jan. 1.

The city's mayor is chosen by the majority members of the City Council. In November elections, the Democrats took six seats to the Republicans' three for their first control in 24 years.

Focus on Health In Science Field

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Slurred speech, radioisotopes in medicine, overweight children and new views on shaving figure in the medical news:

Mumbo Jumbo

You may be no spellbinder when you sound off your views, but are you're even being understood?

The American Medical Association says millions of people are more or less handicapped in their everyday affairs because of slurred speech, mumbling or of swallowing word endings. These people leave the impression they are careless or lack self-confidence.

The AMA gives this tip for testing your enunciation: Ask a few relatives or trusted friends if they understand your speech at all times. Or ask yourself: "How often does someone ask me to repeat a word, phrase or sentence?"

Versatile Atom

The atom is fast approaching early maturity in the field of diagnostic medicine.

Hundreds of medical institutions are using radioisotopes in medicine and the demand is growing.

Nuclear Chicago Corp., a producer of atomic products and equipment, has started issuing informative bulletins that can be used in training programs for medical students and doctors.

The first bulletin deals with the evaluation of thyroid function. Others are planned detailing how radioisotopes can be used in kidney function studies, diagnosis of pernicious anemia and blood volume determinations.

Slim Example

One of the best ways parents can induce an overweight child to lose weight is to set a proper example, a medical study in London indicates.

The study project, reported in World-Wide Abstracts of General Medicine, dealt with 100 overweight children between the ages of 7 and 14. Of the group, 74 had either one or both parents overweight.

Shaving

When the average man takes his daily shave, he removes almost as much skin as hair, a dermatologist contends.

Dr. Herbert Mescon, professor and chairman of the department of dermatology, Boston School of Medicine, said this is true whether he uses a blade razor or electric razor.

Shaving removes living skin as well as the dead outer layers, Dr. Mescon said. "But this doesn't mean that shaving is harmful. It may stimulate the growth of new skin and in this way can be beneficial. To date, there's no proof that any one method (blade or electric razor) is best for all skins."

FIRST TO COMPLETE NEW YORK TRAINING—Two local detectives, who were the first from this city or any upstate area to gain the privilege of full training in New York City's Police Academy recently received diplomas accrediting them with knowledge gained. They are (second from right) William A. Slover receiving his reward from Inspector George McManus, of the academy, and near him, Gurnsey Burger. Others (from left) are: Lt. John Foy, an instructor; the Rev. James L. Murphy, CSsR, a missionary of the Redemptorist Order, and brother of local Police Chief Robert F. Murphy, and Chief Murphy. (Freeman photo)

Rondout Valley Squad Schedules First Aid Class

Red Cross instructors of the Rondout Valley First Aid and Rescue Squad will start a first aid standard course Sunday, Dec. 3 with a meeting at 1:30 p. m. at the Episcopal Church, Christ the King, Route 213, Stone Ridge.

All those interested are asked to notify Mrs. Herman Müller prior to Sunday for registration. The Rondout Valley Squad covers all of the Towns of Rosendale and Marbletown.

Girl Scouts of the area are in their second week of first aid training, meeting Tuesdays from 5:30 to 8:30 p. m. Only first aid from the American Red Cross text book is taught at these sessions.

After Dec. 7, there will be three mobile units in the area equipped with first aid kits and supplies.

The regular meeting of the Rondout Squad will be held Monday, Dec. 4 at 7:30 p. m. at the Cottekill firehouse. The public is invited as well as those persons who wish to join the squad. The emergency ambulance will be open for inspection at this time.

The Squad is planning an open house in January with many first aid items on display.

No. 1 Canned Food Seller

More than 2.5 billion pounds of dog food were purchased last year. In the nation's supermarkets, dog food, by weight, was the No. 1 canned food seller.

Report Sale of DeWitt Lake Resort to New Jersey Couple

Willett L. Burnett, who since 1926 operated the DeWitt Mills Lake resort as a swimming, camping and recreation center, has sold the property to Rostislaw Garkusha and his wife, Ludmila Garkusha of 498 East 29th Street, Paterson, N. J.

The property, consisting of approximately 37 acres, is a portion of land which had been in the DeWitt family from about 1791 until it was sold to the Coykendall interests during the cement boomdays. Burnett acquired a half interest in a 1,000-acre tract of land from the Coykendalls, of which the DeWitt Mills Lake was a portion, and has since 1926 operated DeWitt Lake as a swimming, camping and resort area.

Transferred November 21

At the transfer of title on November 21, Burnett was represented by the law firm of Cook and Tucker and the purchasers by Attorney Saul H. Altholz of Kerhonkson.

Mr. and Mrs. Garkusha plan to make their home at the lake and after making extensive alterations, will operate the resort during the coming season as it has been operated in the past. They plan to move to DeWitt Lake and open offices this winter where they can supervise plans for the coming season.

Garkusha is a research doctor in Jersey City and Mrs. Garkushe has operated summer hotels in various locations.

Included in the improvements to be made at the lake is a larger diving tower, a new gate entrance and enlargement of the present store. The new owners are also considering dividing the lake into two sections, the south end with five acres south of The Alpine for private use with a 1,000 foot beach and special boating. Plans for a large motel in the pine grove are also under consideration.

Developed Youth Camp

In 1926 when Burnett took title to the property he developed it as a camp for youth. For many years the site was used by children's organizations but for the past 10 years it has been almost exclusively used as a public swimming beach and a private resort. After acquiring the property Burnett erected several cottages overlooking the lake and for years some 50 persons have used these cottages. A store was opened on the premises to serve the camps, cottage residents and the public beach.

During a period of 17 years the YMCA used the lake facilities for some 100 children daily in an eight-weeks summer program. Camp St. George (Camp Greenkill) and Camp St. Merry of Brooklyn also used the lake and at times had as many as 500 children daily using the facilities.

For the past few years school programs conducted with state aid have used the lake for morning programs. Tillson School had the greater number of children and used the lake three days a week. Burnett stated that during the past summer more than 10,000 children were at the lake.

History of DeWitt Lake dates back to 1791 when a deed was taken by Gerrite DeWitt from John DeWitt for a mill. A dam was erected and a mill was operated at the site by the DeWitt family. There were two large water wheels propelled by the water which flowed through DeWitt Lake and for many years local residents had their grain converted into flour at the site. A sawmill was also located at the site.

Had Ample Water

The water supply was never a problem, ample water being supplied from flowing mountain streams which come from a 40-foot spring at the edge of the mountain into Big Spring and then over three waterfalls through to DeWitt Lake falls.

In the early days mail came by way of King's Highway to the DeWitt house which stands at the junction of Route 32 and the DeWitt Mills Road, and this mail from Washington and the south was transferred and taken by post to Albany and the north.

A portion of the 1,000 acres purchased from the Coykendall interests was sold by Burnett to Fred Weherhan of 70 Wall Street, New York City. On this 150 acre tract a dam was erected and the place named Hidden Valley Lake.

Behind the dam a narrow, mile long lake was created. This lake is now owned by a Long Island church group which uses it for summer gatherings. Several other smaller areas were sold to New York residents who have built homes on the site.

Aided by Burghers

For the past 15 years Burnett has been assisted at the lake in summer by Mr. and Mrs. Donald Burgher, Mrs. Burgher helping in the store and Mr. Burgher, an employe of The Freeman, assisting weekends in the management of the resort.

Louis Hornbeck of Kingston for 10 years has been in charge of the entrance to the swimming area. During the season lifeguards were maintained at the lake. Betty Uhl of Kingston served as the school lifeguard and Edward Pfeifer served as guard at the public beach. Donald Krom of Kingston served as beach manager during the past season.

Burnett plans to spend much of his time with the United Real Estate Farm Agency. Until 1945 he was with the Strout Farm National Real Estate agency as manager of the Newburgh office. During the past 17 years he has devoted full time to operation of DeWitt Lake and in his real estate business at his home, 176 Downs Street. The sale of the premises was made through the United Farm Agency with home office in Kansas City, Mo. Charles O'Brien of Kerhonkson is field salesman.

Everybody's in the Act

Addressing a theatrical symposium on current video trends, Mosel urged less interference with creative artists.

"You'll get good writing when and if you turn the writer loose and let him alone," he said.

Dutchess Board Rejects Request To Accept Span

Dutchess County's Board of Supervisors has rejected by a vote of 17 to 10 a proposal to have the county accept the drawbridge at New Hamburg, Town of Poughkeepsie, for the purpose of maintenance and reconstruction.

The proposal was made at a Monday night meeting by Town of Poughkeepsie Supervisor Thomas D. Mahar (D) after it was learned that the Towns of Poughkeepsie and Wappinger, not the county, were owners of the span.

Disputes Ownership

Board Chairman Robert J. Blinn (R-Amenia) told a budget hearing group that the county would not ignore an unsafe bridge, if the span was found to be unsafe.

County Attorney William Welch stated that a search of county records showed no evidence that the county accepted ownership of the disputed bridge in 1954, when the State turned over all bridges to localities.

Mahar insisted that Dutchess County has maintained the bridge and thereby the county has taken control of the bridge and is responsible for it.

Mothers Stop Buses

Because of reports the bridge was unsafe, several mothers stop school buses and remove their children and then permit them to board the bus after walking across the bridge.

Councilman Joseph Burnett (R-New Hamburg) suggested the bridge be closed to all school buses until adequate repairs have been made. He also proposed that funds be put in the county budget for replacement surveys.

New Hamburg fire commissions contended that their trucks are too heavy for the bridge's 10-ton capacity and asked for a new bridge in 1962 with at least a 20-ton capacity.

It is estimated that more than 10 million people suffer from one or more chronic respiratory diseases.

Shultis - DeGraff Wedding Announced

Miss Irene Mae Shultis, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Victor L. Shultis of Bearsville, wed Peter D. DeGraff, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clyde DeGraff of Ohayo Mt., Woodstock, in a double ring ceremony at Overlook Methodist Church, Woodstock, on Saturday, Nov. 18 at 7:30 p. m. Officiating during the candlelight ceremony was the Rev. James Cook. Mrs. Richard Jeffery was organist.

The church was decorated with baskets of mums and the pews were marked with white satin ribbons.

The bride wore a street length gown of white satin with short sleeves and a large bow in the back. Her shoulder length veil was attached to a matching headband of satin and she carried a bridal bouquet of white carnations with a center of pink tea roses.

Mrs. Vernon L. Shultis, sister-in-law of the bride, was maid of honor. She wore a beige wool sheath with matching hat and a corsage of pink tea roses.

David DeGraff, cousin of the bridegroom, was best man.

A reception was held at the home of the bride's parents.

The bride was graduated from Onteora Central School in 1960 and was employed as a secretary by Chichester Wood Products Corporation, Chichester. Her husband is an alumnus of Onteora Central School and served four years in the United States Air Force. He is employed by I. J. Rose and Sons of Bearsville.

Mr. and Mrs. DeGraff are residing on Ohayo Mountain, Woodstock.

Choose Among Fresh, Canned, and Frozen Food

Today's homemaker has a choice where her grandmother didn't. Choosing from among the 8,000 items found in today's large supermarkets is difficult for most shoppers. Many foods are found in fresh, canned, and frozen forms. Though offering greater variety, more opportunity for satisfaction, and money-saving possibilities, the multiple forms impose on shoppers a greater responsibility for making a wise choice.

Continuing experiment a t i o n has resulted in advances in food processing. As processing has improved, the variation in price and quality has narrowed for the same food regardless of whether it is fresh, canned, or frozen.

Improved transportation has extended the season for fresh food beyond that of the locally grown products. Many canned and frozen products usually are available throughout the year. So the homemaker's choice is less clear-cut then formerly.

New products constantly are introduced in markets and are compared with older products. Often new products require odd-sized packages and ingredient quantities to obtain a desired number of servings. This, too, complicates selection and emphasizes the importance of reading labels to determine package content.

Many Factors Enter in Shopper's Decision

The shopper's decision to select a fresh, canned, or frozen food depends on many considerations. Shoppers usually evaluate several factors such as cost, nutritive value, use, convenience, storage, and family preference.

Cost

When economy is important, compare costs on the three forms before making a choice. To compare costs, know the number of servings the produet will provide. Information on the label of the canned and frozen packages can serve as a guide to the number of servings. Divide the price of the product by the number of servings to obtain the cost per serving.

Generally, when the fresh product is in season, its cost per serving will be lower than that of the canned or frozen counterpart. But when out of season, the reverse may be true.

Nutritive Value

Fresh produce, grown and handled under ideal conditions, will reach retail markets with a high proportion of its original nutritive value retained. But fresh produce does not always reach markets garden fresh. For this reason the canned and frozen product may be equal or superior in food value.

Use

Select the food form — fresh, canned, or frozen — with its use in the menu in mind. For a salad or for eating out-of-hand fresh fruits or vegetables are usually desired. But for cooking, any of the three forms may be equally suitable. Pack style — texture and shape — of a canned or frozen product may influence your choice. Remember, too, that size of the package and the quantity necessary for the menu are important.

Convenience

Homemakers buy convenience products because they may reduce waste, preparation or cooking time. Most convenience foods save time, but there are exceptions. Some save little or no time in preparation. A frozen food many actually take as much time to thaw as preparing the food in fresh form. Hence, a convenience food may not be a practical time saver if used with other foods that take a comparatively long cooking time.

Peeling, trimming, and cleaning fresh foods may involve waste. Convenience items have relatively little waste.

Judge convenience value of a food against its added cost, if any. Studies show that convenience foods often cost more than unserviced foods, but some cost no more or less.

Storage

Storage space is important in choosing among fresh, canned, and frozen forms and often may be a determining factor in selection. Each form differs in storage requirements.

Canned foods require the least amount of storage care, but they do have requirements and limits. Canned foods should not be allowed to freeze nor should they be left in warm areas. Canned items cannot be stored indefinitely, but should be used within a year.

Frozen foods require particular care in storage. Refrigerate them without delay. Frozen foods will quickly lose appearance, flavor, and food value unless placed in low temperature (0° F.) storage. Many ice cube compartments of refrigerators do not meet this requirement. Limit storage in such compartments to only a few days.

Storage requirements for fresh foods vary widely with the product. Some fresh foods should be refrigerated to prevent quality deterioration. Others need cool, dry conditions.

Family Preference

The likes and dislikes of family members strongly influence selection of fresh, canned, or frozen foods. No purpose is served when a food is purchased for economy if the family will not eat it. To obtain satisfaction in food purchases, the family must enjoy the food.

At the Markets

MEAT — During the 2 weeks after Thanksgiving watch for specials on the red meats, particularly on beef and pork. Chances are you will find sales on beef round roast, chuck steak, and boneless shoulder roast as well as on pork loins.

Specials usually offer you a saving considerably over regular price. Follow prices on some of your favorite cuts in markets in your area, and note how much they drop from typical when the features go into effect. Markets often offer some items at cost, thus giving you a chance for saving on a purchase for immediate use or for freezer storage.

FISH AND SHELLFISH — Southern species of fresh fish come into prominence when weather cools locally. Thus during late November and early December watch for species from the warmer South. These include bluefish, mullet, red snapper, Spanish mackerel, and king mackerel.

The holiday period is a harbinger of increased amounts of shellfish in the markets. Items—fresh hard clams, crabmeat, lobsters, and sea and bay scallops.

VEGETABLES — Green and yellow mark the many vegetables for your choosing. Among the greens, consider broccoli rabe, kale, cabbage, turnip tops, and spinach . . . or endive, escarole, and lettuce — Iceberg, Boston, romaine, and Bibb. Seasonal yellow vegetables include acorn and butternut squash, rutabagas, and sweet potatoes. And added to these are eggplant, turnips, cauliflower, and the especially economical eastern potatoes.

FRUIT — Winter weather suggests apples for baking, and markets offer plenty of McIntosh and Rome Beauties for baking use. Also in the markets you will find plenty of cranberries, avocados, and Florida oranges and grapefruit. Limes, pears, and grapes are available, too.

NUTS — You will find plenty of almonds, filberts, pecans, and walnuts for holiday use. The total crop this year set a new record — about 18 per cent above last year's large one. It's almonds and pecans that will be particularly plentiful.

WHEN THE NATIONAL ANTHEM IS PLAYED

Q—Last evening, the senior class of my daughter's high school put on a play in the school auditorium. Parents and friends were invited. The play was an historical one and during one of the scenes the National Athem was played. Half of the audience rose and the other half remained seated. Later there was much discussion about this, and those who remained seated were severely criticized by those who stood up. Will you please tell us who was right—those who stood or those who remained seated?

A—When the National Anthem is played to the audience either at the beginning or end of a play, everyone must, of course, stand. When a few bars of the National Anthem are heard as part of the action of a play or moving picture, it is not necessary for the audience to stand.

Christmas Cards to Non-Christians

Q—In making up my Christmas card mailing list I have included several personal friends and professional acquaintances who are of the Jewish faith. Since Christmas is not observed by the Jewish people, would it be in bad taste to send them Christmas greetings?

A—There is nothing wrong in sending Christmas cards to Jewish friends unles they have indicated they do not care for them. We take great pleaure in receiving holiday cards from our Confucian friends.

When Introduced to a Roomful of People

Q—When a stranger is introduced to a roomful of others, must she acknowledge each introduction separately or merely smile and every so often say, "How d'you do?" Saying this after each name has been mentioned sounds rather stupid.

A—One "How d'you do" is enough. After that just smile and bow slightly to each, and perhaps say, "How d'you do" once or twice with your lips.

The Emily Post Institute offers readers booklets on a variety of subjects. If you would like the booklet entitled "Manners in Public," send 10 cents in coin, to cover cost of mailing, and a self-addressed, stamped envelope, to the Emily Post Institute, care of The Freeman.

St. Joseph's Rosary Society

The regular monthly meeting of St. Joseph's Rosary Society was held on Monday, Nov. 20 in the school hall.

Preceding the business meeting, a demonstration of home products was given.

During the business meeting, Mrs. Joseph Cross enlisted the aid of the Society members in promoting the movement of the block Rosary and the Rev. William Williams gave detailed information.

After the business portion of the meeting, a hat show was given featuring all original creations made by the members. Awards were given.

A meeting of the group is planned for December 18 and a Christmas party will be held then also. Mrs. Emma Aprea, program chairman, has asked each member to donate an item of food for the Christmas basket and to make a small monetary donation toward a clothing fund. The food and clothing will be given to a needy family in the parish.

Refreshments chairman for November was Mrs. Lois Pardee assisted by Mrs. Betty Drulett and Mrs. Wanda Kryewski.

Traditional YWCA Hanging of Greens Set for Sunday

The traditional "Hanging of the Greens" program will be observed at the YWCA Sunday from 2:30 to 5 p. m. Mrs. Ward Ingalsbe Jr., is general chairman of the event.

Mrs. Ingalsbe announces that all groups within the YWCA have been busily engaged in preparation for the event.

All will gather on Sunday afternoon to complete their projects so that the YWCA will be gaily decorated for the approaching holiday season.

When the trees are trimmed and all the decorations in place participants will join in a program of inspection led by Mike Jousan, seminary associate at Old Dutch Church. Y-Teens will lead in carol singing.

Members of all clubs within the YWCA will attend and bring their families to participate in this traditional festival which opens the Christmas season at the YWCA.

Assisting Mrs. Ingalsbe with details of the decorating project are the following: Mrs. Robert Goetsch, Kraft and Koffee club; Mrs. Fred Burnett, Junior Married Women's Club; Mrs. Donald Hulsair, Y-Wives; Mrs. Donald Snell, Women's Club; Miss Helen Anderson, Business and Professional Women's Club; and Mrs. Marshall Winchell, Golden Age Club.

Y-Teens, under the leadership of Teen-age Program Director, Mrs. Mary D. Short, will provide entertainment and care for children during the afternoon. The Business and Professional Womens Club and the Golden Age Club members will provide and serve refreshments.

Grows at High Altitudes

The finest quality of tea grows at altitudes of 3,000 to 7,000 feet where temperatures are moderate. Slower growth at these heights produces a smaller leaf with less water content and more flavor.

Paltz Club Plans Saturday Session To Hear Speaker

Mrs. W. R. King, an outstanding leader in the garden club movement, will be guest speaker at a presidents' meeting and luncheon to be held at the Old Fort on Saturday, December 2.

Mrs. King is director of the Third District of the Federated Garden Clubs of New York State. In this capacity she leads the activities of the 73 clubs and 2,600 members in the district, and is a member of the state executive board of the federation.

Mrs. King has a wide background of experience in garden club activities. A resident of Schenectady, she is a member and past president of the Dutch Valley Garden Club. She has been the chairman and co-ordinator of a number of the famous Schenectady flower shows. Proceeds from these shows have been used to provide scholarships to the New York State Conservation Camp, landscape a children's home, and finance other worthwhile community projects.

As an accredited National Amateur Flower Show judge and as a lecturer, Mrs. King is a frequent visitor to garden clubs throughout the district and state.

At the New Paltz meeting, Mrs. King will lead a workshop devoted to problems common to garden clubs, and to the relationship of individual clubs with the federation. The meeting will be attended by the presidents and representatives of all Ulster County garden clubs.

Mouse Her Companion

SEETHING, England (AP) — Kathleen Wimpenney was making her first solo Tuesday when a mouse crawled up her leg, sat on her knee for a bit and finally leaped to the plane's instrument panel.

Gritting her teeth, the 32-year-old schoolteacher brought the plane down from 1,000 feet and landed safely.

The mouse jumped out and vanished.

What makes a diamond so Precious?

Forgetting songs about diamonds and setting aside their unmatched beauty and fascinating history, the rarity of diamonds and the fact that tons of earth must be excavated in the far corners of the world and from great depths of special soil and because their manufacture took place millions of years ago under conditions not likely to be duplicated, diamonds can well be expected to be hard to come by. Not only are they precious now but they have been prized since the dawn of civilization. And they will surely be prized as long as women love beauty and men are glad of it.

Orange GOPers Challenge ICMA Censure of Mitchell

NEWBURGH, N.Y. (AP)—Four Republican city councilmen have challenged the International City Managers Association for the censure of City Manager Joseph Mitchell, father of the controversial Newburgh welfare code.

The executive committee of the association, meeting Sunday in Miami Beach, accused Mitchell of violating the association's code of ethics by engaging in partisan politics.

Mitchell did this, the committee said, when he offered to resign if Democratic councilmen were elected and challenged Democratic Mayor William D. Ryan to resign if Republicans won.

Councilman Irving Green Tuesday called the censure a "star chamber proceeding." He described the executive committee as "apparently misguided men who obviously abused and handled carelessly their positions of trust in the ICMA. . ."

Councilman George McKneally wired the association Monday demanding that it "inform the city council immediately of the details of the false, libelous, and unjustified action. . ."

He also asked the committee if any of Ryan's statements was used as evidence against Mitchell.

Also criticizing the censure were Councilmen William P. Doulin and William McIntyre.

Orin Nolting, association executive director, denied a charge by Mitchell that the organization is "welfare state-minded."

Mitchell had tagged that label on the association after the censure, even though the executive committee claimed the action did not reflect any position on the stringent Newburgh welfare code.

Trinity Guild Meeting

The Trinity Women's Guild of Trinity Lutheran Church held its regular monthly meeting Tuesday, Nov. 21 in the church assembly hall. Presiding was the president, Emma Ellsworth.

Will Give Pictorial Program on Hawaii At Artcraft Gallery Saturday at 2 P. M.

The Rev. Harold J. Stephanz, Minister of the First Baptist Church, will present a pictorial program on Hawaii on Saturday, Dec. 2, in the Artcraft Gallery, 694 Broadway, at 2 p. m. The public is invited.

Mr. Stephanz visited our 50th State in June of this year, touring the Islands with a group of 20 under the direction of the Rev. Robert Bradford, recently given a pastorate in Honolulu.

Arriving in Honolulu by Pan American Boeing Jet 707 on Monday, June 19, Mr. Stephantz began ten days of photographing the Islands of Oahu and Kauai. Beginning with an Aloah breakfast on Waikiki, Mr. Stephanz then attended the Eastman Kodak Hula Show in the famous Kapiolani Park.

In the days that followed, Mr. Stephanz toured the Oriental Temples of Honolulu, visited Diamond Head, followed by a coastline trip of Oahu photographing such famous scenic spots as Hanauma Bay, Blow Hole, Koko Head Park, Makapuu Point and the City of Kailua.

Of special significance was a visit to the Punchbowl Memorial

REV. HAROLD J. STEPHANZ

Cemetery, a tour of the Naval Base at Pearl Harbor, followed by a visit to the Hickman Air Force Base.

From the Pali Mountain Range to the sands of Waikiki, Mr. Stephanz photographed the countryside of Oahu including the burning off and harvesting sugar cane, the planting and picking of pineapples, and the beauty of the flowering trees, outstanding of which were the Poinciana, Plumeria and Shower blossoms.

A special Circle Island Tour included a good part of one day visiting on the Windward side of Oahu where he shared in a Hukilau at Laie which was a portrayal of Samoan life featuring the opening of Inu (oven), luau (feast), basket weaving, cocoanut husking and cracking, pulling in the hukilau net, and special Samoan music.

Of special interest and attraction was a one-day trip to the garden Island of Kauai where Mr. Stephanz toured the Island visiting the Waimea Canyon, a great canyon sculptured from volcanic rock of varying hues; a drive to Kalalau Lookout with its breathtaking view of lush villages 4,000 feet below; a visit to Spouting Horn, a noisy salt geyser, and the lovely Pa'u-a-Lake Cactus Gardens. Also seen on the Island was The Hanalei Valley and Opaikaa Falls with its wonderful view of Kauai. Concluding the visit to Kauai was a trip on the Wailua River to the famed Fern Grotto.

Final days on the Island of Oahu included visits to the Ewa Sugar Plantation, Dole Pineapple Company, the Royal Hawaiian Village, the International Market Place, Kirsch Orchid Gardens and a final breathtaking view of the City of Honolulu from Tantalus Drive.

Artcraft Gallery invites the picture-taking public, as well as those who just enjoy color travel slides at 2 p. m. on December 2. No admission fee.

Wallkill Parents Slate Book Fair

The annual Book Fair of the Wallkill Parents Club will be held the week of December 4 through Dec. 8 during which time a large selection of books will be available to everyone.

Books suitable for pre-school and grade school children will be displayed and sold in the elementary schools of the district.

A large selection of books, fiction, non-fiction, dictionaries and others including some paperbacks will be in the Music room of the high school.

Co-chairmen Mrs. John Gardiner and Mrs. Paul Davis said the fair will be open to the public during school hours.

On Thursday, Dec. 7, Mrs. James Horton will speak to members of the club. Her topic will be Reading for the Family Group. Mrs. Horton is director of the Ramapo-Catskill Library System.

The Dec. 7 meeting will be held in the Elementary building at Wallkill at 2 p. m. Refreshments will be served and the entire selection of books will be on display. Members are urged to bring a friend to this session.

Extensive Cold Resumes Friday

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)—Extended forecasts, prepared by the U.S. Weather Bureau, from 7 p.m. today through 7 p.m. Monday:

Eastern New York—Slight moderation Thursday followed by another extensive cold outbreak, beginning Friday and continuing through the weekend. Quite windy throughout much of the period with frequent periods of snow flurries, especially over the areas southeast and east of Lake Ontario. Temperatures will average 5-10 degrees below normal. Water content of the snow will be quite low and under three-tenths of an inch.

Western New York—Temperatures will average 4-8 degrees below normal. Not so cold Thursday but colder Friday and Saturday. A little warmer Sunday but colder Monday. Precipitation will average one-fourth to one-half inch melted as frequent periods of snow flurries. Some snow squalls near the Great Lakes.

Temperature normals—Daytime highs 34-42. Nighttime lows 18-25.

Pravda Nearly Ignores Report Of Interview

MOSCOW (AP)—President Kennedy's interview with the editor of Izvestia was almost ignored by the Moscow press today.

Pravda, the biggest paper in the Soviet Union, carried no part of the interview but published a brief dispatch from Washington quoting President Kennedy as saying it was "a notable step ahead in improving relations" between the two countries.

Izvestia, the government organ, published the full text of the interview Tuesday night.

Back to a Modern

NEW YORK (AP)—After six years of concentration on Shakespearean works, director Jack Landau is returning to contemporary drama with "Giants, Sons of Giants," written by Joseph Kramm who won a Pulitzer Prize with "The Shrike." Landau recently resigned as artistic director of the American Shakespeare Festival Theater at Stratford, Conn. The Kramm play is scheduled for New York opening in January.

Oysters Exported to Rome

As early as A.D. 80, oysters were exported from the Thames estuary to Rome. The historian Sallust commented, "The poor Britons, there is some good in them after all—they produce an oyster."

Syracuse Diocese School Plans Calls For $6.25 Million

SYRACUSE, N.Y. (AP) —The seven-county Syracuse Roman Catholic diocese announced on its 75th anniversary that it plans a $6.25-million school-expansion program.

The anniversary Tuesday also was the 25th anniversary of the Most Rev. Walter A. Foery as Bishop of Syracuse. He celebrated a solemn pontifical Mass in the Cathedral of the Immaculate Conception.

The expansion plans include two high schools on the outskirts of Syracuse and high schools in Binghamton and Rome.

The diocese comprises Onondaga, Oswego, Oneida, Madison, Broome, Cortland and Chenango counties.

'Earth Doctor' Pleads Innocent to Charge

WATKINS GLEN, N.Y. (AP)—The trial of a man known as the "Earth Doctor" on seven misdemeanor counts of practicing medicine without a license has begun in Schuyler County Court.

Leland H. (Lee) Wickham allegedly has beeen selling an earthy substance he calls the "dark preparation" to people who come to his nursery near Odessa.

He has pleaded innocent to all charges since his arrest last Sept. 18 by State Police.

Raccoon Causes Halt As Generator Tested

NIAGARA FALLS, N.Y. (AP)—The 20,000 - kilowatt generator surged with power as engineers threw the switch to test the third such device at the pump-generator plant at the Niagara Power Project Tuesday.

Almost as suddenly, the huge machine ground to a halt. After several tries, the puzzled engineers opened a control cabine and found a slightly singed raccoon.

Why you need Allstate collision insurance:

1. Your modern car costs more to repair

Fancy fins and grillwork can turn even a small accident into an expensive repair job. Simply repairing a smashed rear end could easily cost you $150 . . . more than three yearly average premiums for Allstate collision insurance.

2. There may be no "other guy" to foot the bill

Your parked car may be damaged by a hit-and-run driver . . . and you'd be stuck with the repair bill. Or perhaps a blowout or a skid could wreck your car, no matter how carefully you drive.

Find out how Allstate can help you protect your investment in your car

Talk to an Allstate Agent. Ask him to show you how Allstate Collision insurance helps you pay for damage to your car caused by collision or upset . . . and how Allstate's Comprehensive insurance covers practically any other hazard that could damage your car.

Be sure to ask about Allstate's low rates too. Allstate's top-quality protection, low rates, and fast claim service have convinced nearly 4,000,000 car owners that Allstate is their best buy in auto insurance.

Early Plans Are Given by Chamber For B-E Program

Plans for the seventh annual Business-Education Day on January 26 were announced today by William McCullen, chairman of the Kingston Area Chamber of Commerce Education Committee.

The first step is to enroll area industries and places of business as sponsors. Between 30 and 35 area firms will entertain approximately 250 teachers of the Kingston Consolidated school system. An enrollment letter is being mailed to previous cooperators today. Any additional places of business interested in being sponsors should contact the Chamber of Commerce office.

The cooperating firms will meet the teachers at the George Washington School at 9 a. m. Jan. 26, and transport them to their respective places of business.

This cooperative program gives teachers the opportunity to meet many business leaders, learn about the employment possibilities locally, and become familiar with some of the businesses which are the basis of the economy. In turn, the business leaders meet the teachers, one of the most important group of citizens in the community.

Several weeks after Business-Education Day, plans are being developed for a program to be put on by the school system to which businessmen and the public will be invited. This cooperative program is known as Education-Business Day and gives businessmen an opportunity to learn about the problems of operating a school system with nearly 9,000 students. Both programs are designed to bring about a still better understanding between the school system and the community.

FOOD FOR AMERICANS

Fudge Is a Sweet Answer to Gifts

VELVETY smooth chocolate fudge, "frosted" with chopped and sliced Brazil nuts, makes a welcome Christmas present.

GAYNOR MADDOX
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Rich chocolate fudge, crunchy with Brazil nuts spread on top, is a smooth and exciting answer to "What can I make my friends for Christmas?" Packaged handsomely, presented with "Merry Christmas" greetings — well, wouldn't you welcome such a gift yourself?

Brazil Nut Chocolate Fudge

(Yield: Approximately 4½ pounds)

1 tall can (1 2-3 cups) evaporated milk
3½ cups sugar
2 12-ounce jumbo packages or 4 6-ounce packages (4 cups) semisweet chocolate morsels
½ cup butter or margarine
1 jar (any size) marshmallow cream
1 tablespoon vanilla
1½ cups chopped Brazil nuts, divided Brazil nut slices

Combine evaporated milk and sugar in a 3-quart saucepan. Place over high heat and bring to a full all-over boil, stirring constantly. Continue to boil, stirring vigorously, 9 minutes. (Reduce heat, if necessary, to prevent boiling over sides of pan.) Remove from heat, add semisweet chocolate morsels and stir until smooth. Add butter, marshmallow cream and vanilla; stir until blended.

To Make Fudge Squares: Turn half of fudge mixture into buttered 8-inch square pan. Sprinkle with 1 cup of the chopped Brazil nuts, pressing into surface. When cool, cut into squares.

To Make Fudge Bonbons: Spoon half of remaining mixture into bonbon papers placed in small cupcake pans to hold round shape. Top each with a Brazil nut slice.

To Make Fudge Balls: Cool remaining fudge until firm enough to handle. Shape into 1-inch balls and roll in remaining chopped Brazil nuts.

Pecan Meringues

2 egg whites
⅛ teaspoon salt
1/3 teaspoon cream of tartar
1½ cups sifted confectioners' sugar
½ teaspoon vanilla
1 1/3 cups coarsely chopped pecans

Beat egg whites until frothy. Add salt and cream of tartar; continue beating until they just stand in peaks. Gradually add sugar, beating well after each addition. Add vanilla, fold in pecans. Drop by teaspoonfuls on well-greased baking sheet. Bake at 275 degrees F. about 20 minutes.

Minted Walnuts

(Makes 1¼ pounds)

1 cup sugar
½ cup water
1 teaspoon essence of peppermint
10 marshmallows
3 cups walnut halves (10 ounces)

Combine corn syrup, sugar and water in saucepan. Cook over water in saucepan. Cook over medium heat, stirring constantly until mixture boils. Continue cooking to soft ball stage (238 degrees F.) or until a small amount of mixture forms a soft ball when tested in very cold water.

Remove from heat; quickly add essence of peppermint and marshmallows. Stir until marshmallows are dissolved. Add walnut halves. Stir until walnuts are well-coated. Pour onto waxed paper. Separte walnut halves while still warm.

Expressway Link To Join Syracuse, Watertown Friday

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)—Syracuse and Watertown will be linked by an automobile expressway beginning Friday.

The State Public Works Department said Tuesday that the final section of the North-South expressway between the two cities would be opened to traffic at ceremonies near Pulaski.

The opening of the 28-mile segment will provide a 73.6-mile stretch of toll-free highway from Willow Street in Syracuse to a point near the northern city limits of Watertown.

Hudson Defeats Saugerties High, 62-60, in Overtime

Bergman's Basket Spoils Cage Debut Of SHS Quintet

Steve Bergman made an easy layup with a little more than a minute remaining of an overtime session and Hudson High nipped Saugerties, 62-60, in a thrilling cage opener for both squads yesterday at the SHS gym.

The Sawyers had sent the contest into overtime when Andy Jacobs made a pair of baskets in the final two minutes after the visitors had moved to a 56-52 lead.

Hudson moved to a quick 8-0 lead in the first period before Coach Bud Smith's cagers found the range. They trailed, 19-18, after the period but moved into an eight point lead early in the second quarter.

Fourth Personal

Starter Bill Schirmer picked up his fourth personal foul in this period and he was forced to play the rest of the way without contributing much to the defense. It didn't help the situation any.

Both clubs took turns in taking the lead during the second half. After Jacobs had sent the contest into overtime, the visitors moved ahead when George Konopski made a bucket. A pair of free throws by Al Hrdlicka knotted the count at 58-58.

Konopski scored again and then Bergman made his deuce to shove the invaders ahead by four points, 62-58. Keith Mills halved the margin with one from underneath but the home side couldn't score again. They had a chance with one second left but a desperation shot by Hrdlicka fell short of the mark.

Konopski led Hudson with 20 points while Butch Erwin had 19 and sophomore Nick Marchionne rimmed 12. Mills scored 17 for the Sawyers while Jacobs had 16, Hrdlicka 13 and Mike Dodig 10.

Poor Foul Shooting

Hudson made 16 of 20 free throws against 8 for 19 that the Sawyers were able to convert. Accuracy at the charity stripe proved to be the difference.

It marked the second straight season Saugerties had lost its opener to Hudson. Last year the Sawyers went on to post a 17-3 mark. Can history repeat?

Hudson won the jayvee tilt, 40-37.

Sports Talk

By CHARLES J. TIANO

Freeman Sports Editor

It's a long time between now and the first tee shots of the 1962 golf season, but Wiltwyck Country Club is busy plotting some significant changes in its constitutional setup.

Several amendments to the club's by-laws will be recommended to the membership of the Country Club Corporation on Dec. 6. One amendment would eliminate the "non-resident member" classification, another would empower the Board of Directors to levy and collect assessments against the individual members when needed.

These are interesting moves and reflect the mounting concern of golf clubs across the country with operating expenses and course pressure. There is nothing radically new in either of these suggestions.

Modern highways have rendered the so-called "non-resident member" obsolete. For example, a person residing in Poughkeepsie, lets say, can reach Wiltwyck Country Club via the New Paltz cutoff and New York Thruway in less than 45 minutes. Under the present rule, this type member pays far less membership fee, yet has almost unlimited use of the course. It's an inequity that will be corrected by abolition of the non-resident membership.

• Nothing New About it:

The assessment procedure is as old as golf itself. Maintaining a modern golf course is a tremendously expensive operation in these days of high wages and high cost of materials.

Unless membership fees are pegged at astronomical heights, it is impossible for a course to operate on fees alone. The support and sustenance of a golf course becomes the responsibility of everyone concerned. Belonging to a private golf club is still a rather exclusive American privilege. For a long time many clubs were supported by a handful of faithful members who patronized all the club functions, its restaurant and cocktail lounge and other facilities. The vast majority of the membership just used the course.

The assessment procedure can be handled in many ways. Many clubs require that the member, in addition to paying annual dues, subscribe to a minimum amount each month in drinks or food. This is becoming common practice. There is nothing revolutionary about it and more and more clubs are turning to this type of motivation to stay alive.

• The Game Keeps Growing:

If golf clubs have any qualms about levying assessments or resorting to other ideas to stay alive, they should take comfort from the annual report of the National Golf Foundation. There they will find statistical support for the promise that golf courses can afford to be highly selective in memberships. The NGF report points out that a total of 409 new courses opened during 1961, including 247 new standard length courses, 76 additions to existing courses and 86 new par-3 courses, a 48 per cent increase over 1960, the previous high year. Par-3 courses continue to broaden in popularity. Barely six years ago, there were no more than 100 short courses and at present the number has grown to 460. They have contributed greatly to the increased number of women and juniors taking up the game of golf.

"These new courses, representing a construction investment of more than 35 million dollars, provide playing facilities for a minimum of a quarter million new golfers," the report says. "As encouraging as new construction activity is, it falls far short of keeping pace with the growing demand for new playing facilities."

Six hundred new playing facilities are needed each year to keep pace with the demand. Prospects of attaining this rate of growth are encouraging, says the National Golf Foundation, but cannot be guaranteed.

In Ulster County we are presently concerned with existing installations. They can keep moving only if all members realize that they must share equally the responsibility for survival.

Delanoy, Hub Score Victories In 'Y' Winter Loop Openers

Delanoy nipped Yellow Jackets, 63-56, and Hub walloped Doran, 60-40, in the opening games of the Kingston YMCA Winter Basketball League last night.

Ted Bream, former KHS cager, rimmed 21 points for Delanoy. Mel Williams had 18 for the losers.

The teams were knotted, 52-52, after regulation time but Delanoy tallied 11 points in the overtime session.

Monk Komosa led Hub Delicatessen to its easy victory with 20 markers. Al Short aided with 16. Bruce Fiore scored 10 for Doran, which trailed all the way.

The rest of the schedule this week finds Baliton A vs. Accord and Baliton B vs. Trailway tonight and Ray's Tackle Shop vs. Trailway and Byrne Chevies vs. Newkirk on Saturday night. Opening games are listed for 7:15 and second games for 8:15 p. m.

Natale, Lewis To Captain 1962 KHS Grid Squad

End Paul Natale and guard Jack Lewis will captain the 1962 Kingston High School football team. They were elected the team leaders at a squad meeting, held yesterday.

Both boys were starters on this year's squad. Natale missed several games because of an injured hand. However, he's a big rugged end with good pass catching abilities. Lewis was one of the best guards in the DUSO league and is a top candidate for all-league honors.

John Falvey and John Duffner, who were co-captains of the team for the past season, were elected permanent co-captains at the meeting. Falvey quarterbacked the club and Duffner was a tackle.

Bowra Shoots 522 In Archery Tourney

Don Bowra shot 522 in the 450 class as the Kingston Archery Assn. started its indoor meets on Monday. The range is open each Monday and starting next week, handicap tournaments will take place.

Other results:

350 Class — Mel Farris, 445; Don Planthaber, 405; Willis Eckert, 397; Clinton Hawes, 387.

300 Class—Ron Bruck, 317; David Landers, 306.

Big Names Popping Up In Major League Marts

By JOE REICHLER
Associated Press Sports Writer

TAMPA, Fla. (AP)—The trade-minded major leaguers, who have bagged six deals in three days including a big one Tuesday shifting slugger Roy Sievers from the Chicago White Sox to Philadelphia for two players, apparently are just warming up for bigger game.

Among the names being bandied about in closed-door conferences at the annual baseball convention are Charley Neal of the Los Angeles Dodgers, Woody Held of Cleveland, Pete Runnels of Boston, Ryne Duren of the Los Angeles Dodgers, Willie McCovey of San Francisco, Julian Javier of St. Louis, Wally Post of Cincinnati, Bob Buhl of Milwaukee, Pedro Ramos of Minnesota, Nellie Fox and Billy Pierce of the Chicago White Sox, Don Elston of the Cubs and Dick Farrell of Houston.

The Cardinals, having fortified their outfield by the acquisition of Minnie Minoso from the White Sox in exchange for Joe Cunningham, now seek to add punch to the infield. They have proposed a deal to the Indians that would bring Held, a hard-hitting shortstop, for Javier, a fleet-footed, sure-handed second baseman.

The Reds, searching for a top-flight second baseman, have offered outfielder Post and rookie infielder Francisco Obregon to the Cards for Javier and outfielder Charley James.

Houston still has not given up hope of luring Runnels, a fine hitter who can play any infield position, from the Boston Red Sox. Boston can have Farrell, a hard-throwing relief pitcher but would prefer a right-handed hitting outfielder.

Milwaukee is on the prowl for a top-flight relief pitcher and has made bids for Duren, the Angels' fireballer Elston and Farrell. Outfielder Lee Maye and right-handed starter Bob Buhl are the expendables.

The Giants need an experienced second baseman. They would gamble with veteran Fox, who had a sub-par season in 1961, but won't give up McCovey, a long ball left-handed hitting first baseman, unless the White Sox sweeten the pot.

The Dodgers have offered second baseman Charlie Neal to Minnesota for right-hander Ramos but Calvin Griffith, the Twins' president, wants a young pitcher thrown into the deal.

The Phillies gave up a pair of promising young players, third baseman Charlie Smith, 24, and pitcher Johnny Buzhard, 26, for Sievers, 35, who walloped 27 home runs and drove in 92 runs for the White Sox last season.

The New York Mets paid a reported $100,000 to the Braves for outfielder Frank Thomas, 32, who hit 27 home runs and drove in 73 runs. Milwaukee also will get a player before the start of the 1962 season.

$4 Winner

WESTBURY, N.Y. (AP) — Mr. Childs breezed home in the $6,575 fall series mile and one-sixteenth class a pace at Roosevelt Raceway Tuesday night.

Milt Plum Top Passer in NFL

NEW YORK (AP)—Cleveland's Milt Plum has reached the statistical top among National Football League passers even though he and his Browns teammates lost a 37-21 game Sunday to the New York Giants and just about bowed out of the Eastern Conference title picture.

Plum completed 19 of 33 tosses for 284 yards in the losing effort against the Giants and now has moved ahead of Green Bay's Bart Starr and Philadelphia's Sonny Jurgensen. He has completed 143 pitches for 1,901 yards and a completion percentage of 60.6, tops among the leaders, according to the NFL's weekly statistical report.

Big Jim (Red) Phillips of the Los Angeles Rams took charge in the pass reception department. He has plucked 58 passes and gained 911 yards and slightly outshines New York's Del Shofner, who has caught 57 for 909 yards.

Except in these two categories, there were no new individual leaders as a result of last weekend's action which saw the Green Bay Packers open up a 2½-game gap in the Western Conference and the Giants retain their one-game advantage in the East.

Hawaii, Pipers Win ABL Games

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Hawaii Chiefs chalked up their fourth straight American Basketball League victory Tuesday night in beating the Chicago Majors 124-117 at Hilo's Civic Auditorium.

Frank Burgess, former Gonzaga star, paced the chiefs with 35 points.

The Cleveland Pipers nipped the Kansas City Steers 99-97 in the only other league action. The Steers erased a 9-point deficit to take a 97-96 lead with two minutes left, but two free throws by Ben Warley and another charity toss by John Cox in the remaining time won for the Pipers.

Ohio State Passes Up Rose Bowl

PASADENA, Calif. (AP)—Ohio State had a chance to play in the Rose Bowl and refused it, but UCLA probably will meet a Big Ten opponent in Pasadena New Year's Day.

Minnesota, Michigan State and Purdue presumably are the three opponents the Big Five Conference is considering. That may not necessarily be the order of preference but it is significant that Minnesota beat both Michigan State and Purdue.

Tom Hamilton, commissioner of the Big Five, said that five teams were being considered, Ohio State among them; that four teams remain, three of them from the Big Ten.

Athletic director Ike Armstrong of Minnesota said his school felt Ohio State would accept the Rose Bowl opportunity, but "I've always been in favor of the Rose Bowl and I see no reason why we would not want to go back,if invited."

Minnesota's coach, Murray Warmath said he wanted to return to Pasadena so the team could "redeem itself for the loss to Wisconsin and have an opportunity to make up for our disappointment against Washington in the Rose Bowl last January."

Michigan State's coach, Duffy Daugherty, highly popular in Southern California, said his school always has gone on record in favor of the Rose Bowl.

"We've enjoyed wonderful relationships with the west coast," said Daugherty, "both in the Rose Bowl and out. If the honor were extended we'd enjoy going again."

Athletic director Biggie Munn added: "If we get the bid we'll call the fastest meeting of our athletic council on record to accept it."

Coach Jack Mollenkopf of Purdue: "We certainly would like to play off our tie with UCLA 27-27 last year and 0-0 in 1959. Purdue's athletic director, Red Mackey, said Purude would welcome an invitation to Pasadena and that it would be "a deserved tribute to a great team and coaching staff." Purdue never has played in the Rose Bowl.

Cornell Captain

ITHACA, N.Y. (AP) —Tony Turel, a center from Kingston, Pa., will lead the 1962 Cornell football team. Turel, a junior, was elected team captain Tuesday night.

Warriors Finally Top Hawks

Things are getting to such a state with the St. Louis Hawks, the erstwhile perennial Western champions in the National Basketball Association, that even the Philadelphia Warriors are beating them at St. Louis.

The Warriors, with 7-foot-1 Wilt Chamberlain, beat many a team but usually not St. Louis at St. Louis. Until Tuesday night, when the Warriors scored a 121-111 victory, the Hawks hadn't lost to the Warriors in St. Louis in 12 games going back to March 11, 1958.

The loss was the 13th in 20 games for the Hawks and their fourth in five games since Fuzzy Levane, one of their many ex-coaches, succeeded ex-coach Paul Seymour.

Only another loss for the Los Angeles Lakers, their third in a row, kept the Hawks from slipping further than 7½ games away from first place in the Western chase they have won the last five years. The Lakers lost the opener of a St. Louis doubleheader to Syracuse, 121-111—same score as the second game—despite a 49-pointed outburst by Army-bound Elgin Baylor.

In other NBA action, Boston's Eastern leaders made it 14-2 with a 116-108 decision over Detroit before Cincinnati won the second game of a doubleheader at New York, beating the host Knickerbockers, 131-117.

Army 11 Selected Over Navy

By HAROLD CLAASSEN
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—There is an old Chinese proverb that they who live by the crystal ball must develop a profound liking for shattered glass. That's what happened to the 1961 ball after forecasting triumphs last weekend by Minnesota over Wisconsin and Michigan over Ohio State. Last week's total figures, 35 right, 8 wrong, .814 average.

This week's final whirl by the hat-pin method:

Army over Navy: Dick Eckert, now completely healed, is back to direct the cadet attack. In addition, there is just enough yelping by the military wolves about Dale Hall's coaching that Army's players will try even harder than usual.

Alabama over Auburn: The man who owns the tape and bandage concession in the state of Alabama will be a millionaire after this skirmish.

Miami over Florida: A year ago Florida could do no wrong. This year lady luck keeps looking the other way.

Mississippi over Mississippi State: It would be a major miracle if the Rebels were derailed at this late stage.

Georgia Tech over Georgia: Stan (the Man) Gann is healthy and that means woe for the toothless Georgia Bulldogs.

Texas Christian over Southern Methodist: The season can't end soon enough for the much battered Mustangs.

Colorado over Air Force: This is growing into a Harvard-Yale feud but this year the Buffs are too strong for the Flyers.

Oklahoma over Oklahoma State: Since mid-season, the Sooners have knocked off Missouri and Army and should close the season with a five-game winning streak.

North Carolina over Virginia: A pair of see-saw teams. It is North Carolina's turn to be up this time.

Texas Tech over West Texas State: Only because the Raiders come from the stronger league.

Houston over Oregon State: Coach Hal Lahar bids Houston adieu with an upset victory.

Wisconsin Star Lineman of Week

By TED MEIER
Associated Press Sports Writer

Big Pat Richter of Wisconsin is the Lineman of the Week. The 230-pound Badger end earned the honor today in the weekly Associated Press poll of sportswriters and broadcasters.

Richter played a key role in Wisconsin's 23-21 victory over Minnesota, a victory that kept the Gophers from tying Ohio State for the Big Ten championship.

Although constantly surrounded by swarming Gophers the 6-foot-5 junior caught six passes for 142 yards including two for touchdowns. In doing so, he set a conference season record with a total of 656 yards. This eclipsed the previous mark of 650 yards set by Northwestern's Joe Collier in 1952.

Richter's seven TD passes also tied Collier's total set in 1952 and his conference total of 36 catches equalled the 7-game record by Illinois' Rex Smith in 1952. Overall in nine games, counting two non-conference frays, Richter caught 47 passes for 817 yards. Eight of his catches went for touchdowns.

Richter, a native of Madison, also played a sterling defensive game against Minnesota, despite the fact that he reported with a sore knee Thursday.

Qualifying Round

Kildy Corrado Second In Bowling Tourney

Kildy Corrado paced a contingent of Kingston keglers as the qualifying round of the Hudson Valley Match Game Bowling championships reached the halfway mark. Corrado had a six game total of 1169, putting him in second place behind Ed Vradenburg of Newburgh. He socked 1179.

Other Kingston keglers in the top 12 include Jerry Kaplan with 1154 for third place, Vince Carpino with 1129 for seventh place and Chris Gallo with 1115 for ninth place.

Failing to move into the top 12 in spite of the low scoring were such standouts as Jack and John Ferraro of Kingston, Tony Mack of Highland Falls, Bill Tarsio of Newburgh and John Osowick of Port Jervis.

Conducted by the Bowling Proprietors Assn., this event determines the representative from the Hudson Valley who will participate in the New York State finals. Each contestant rolls two six game qualifying blocks with the top twelve men on total pinfall moving into the finals where another two six game blocks are rolled under match game conditions with scoring under the Peterson point system.

Next week the field moves to Walden for the final six qualifying games.

Ed Vradenburg, Newburgh—217, 175, 177, 194, 201, 215 for 1179.

Kildy Corrado, Kingston—184, 192, 180, 192, 176, 245 for 1169.

Irish Seek A 'Board' Ruling

SOUTH BEND, Ind. (AP) — Notre Dame turned thumbs down on a ruling that the Irish defeated Syracuse 17-15 on an illegal play.

Gen. Bob Neyland of the NCAA rules committee Tuesday said the Irish victory over Syracuse came on an illegal play in the game played Nov. 18.

However, Rev. Edmund C. Joyce, Notre Dame vice president, refused to accept the verdict and asked for judgement by "a competent board."

On the final play of the controversial game, Notre Dame's Joe Perkowski attempted a field goal. The officials ruled the kicker had been roughed, penalized Syracuse 15 yards and gave Notre Dame another chance at a field goal.

Perkowski's second attempt was good, although no time remained on the field, and Notre Dame turned a 15-14 loss into a 17-15 victory on the 41-yard field goal.

Neyland, backed by Bill Reed, commissioner of the Big Ten and Asa Bushnell of the Eastern College Athletic Conference, ruled the officials erred in giving Notre Dame another attempt and that Syracuse actually won the game.

But the Irish are in no mood to forfeit the game. Father Joyce Tuesday released a statement in which he quoted the rules to favor Notre Dame's stand and then asked to have the matter thoroughly "adjudicated by a competent board."

Battle Looms For Control Of Basketball

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Amateur Athletic Union, engaged in a life-and-death struggle with the National Collegiate Athletic Association, opens its 74th annual convention today.

The clash with the NCAA isn't the only controversy on the horizon.

At least three proposed rule changes should meet strong opposition and the convention must select a successor to Dan Ferris, who said last week he was quitting after 54 years with the AAU.

The convention gets under way today with the closed meeting of the executive and foreign relations committee. The committee, headed by AA UPresident Nick J. Barack of Columbus, Ohio, is expected to see preliminary skirmishing in most areas of controversy during its secret session.

Thursday the convention gets down to more formal business when the various committees hold their meetings.

The battle with the NCAA centers around control of basketball and track, but indirectly involves control of all amateur sports in the United States.

The first test will come on the NCAA proposal for formation of a U.S. Basketball Federation to govern the sport. In addition to the NCAA, it would be made up of the AAU, the Interservice Council (for the armed services), the National Federation of State High Schoool Athletic Associations (for high schools) and the YMCA.

Giant-Packer Game Preview To Title Clash

By DAVE O'HARA
Associated Press Sports Writer

GREEN BAY, Ws. (AP) —A preview of the National Football League's championship game? That's what many observers think about the Green Bay Packers-New York Giants showdown Sunday at Milwaukee's County Stadium.

The Packers and the Giants have identical records — 9 victories and 2 losses. Other statistics are just about "even" with one major exception. Green Bay has a comfortable 2½ game lead in the Western Division, but New York tops the Eastern circuit by a single game.

Needing only one victory with three games to go for their second straight division title, the Packers have been installed an early three-point favorite. But the Packers are hurting badly.

Physical ailments and the loss of standouts Paul Hornung, Boyd Dowler and Ray Nitschke to the Army are disrupting practice sessions in the Greeen Bay camp.

Flu has sent to bed fullback Jim Taylor, the league's second leading ground gainer, end Max McGee, the team's top receiver with 444 pass grabs, and defensive end Willie Davis. Several others are nursing colds.

Jim Ringo, the all-NFL center noted for his tremendous blocking, is hospitalized with an outbreak of boils on the face and can barely talk. Right end Ron Kramer is hobbled by two bad ankles. Halfback Tom Moore, Hornung's No. 1 replacement, and defensive back Han'; Gremminger also are injured, while blocking guard Jerrry Kramer is through for the season with a bad ankle.

The Packers are hopeful of having the services of Hornung, Dowler and Nitschke. But whether the trio will get weekend passes from the Army to fly to Milwaukee will not be known for a day or so.

Heisman Award To Davis

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Ernie Davis, Syracuse's fleet, power-running halfback, is the 1961 Heisman Trophy winner and the first Negro in the 27-year history of the award to be selected college football's player of the year.

Davis, 22, who has worn Jimmy Brown's No. 44 while shattering the former Orange great's records was named Tuesday for the honor and will receive the award Dec. 6 at the Downtown Athletic Club.

"Winning the Heisman Trophy," said Brown at Syracuse, "is something you just dream about. You never think it could happen to you."

Syracuse Coach Ben Schwartzwalder said, "We knew he was the best football player in the United States. We're very happy everyone else agrees with us."

Davis, winning the honor that eluded Brown, polled 824 points in the 1-2-3 balloting by 820 electors throughout the country, edging Bob Ferguson, Ohio State's hard-charging fullback. Ferguson had 771.

Jimmy Saxton, Texas' lithe speedster, was third, followed by Minnesota's quarterback Sandy Stephens, Alabama signal-caller Pat Trammell, Colorado guard Joe Romig and Kansas quarterback-halfback John Hadl.

Other vote-getters were Maryland end Gary Collins, North Carolina State quarterback Roman Gabriel, Utah State tackle Merlin Olsen, Rutgers center Alex Kroll, Navy end Greg Mather, Iowa State tailback Dave Hoppmann and Arkansas halfback Lance Alworth.

'Nothing Boy' Army's Weapon

WEST POINT, N.Y. (AP) — Army's secret weapon in the big game with Navy Saturday may be its "nothing boy" — Tom Culver.

Culver is Army's regular right halfback, of whom head coach Dale Hall says:

"He doesn't have size, he doesn't have speed, he has no outstanding natural ability. In fact, it seems he has nothing, but he's going to play for us.

Culver, a 5-foot-11, 185-pound senior from Indianapolis, battled his way to a starting position this year after two years of sporadic second-string play and benchwarming.

He is the team's leading pass receiver, having snared 18 for 243 yards. He is third in rushing (behind Al Rushatz and Joe Blackgrove) with 236 yards but he has the best average with 6.13 yards a try. He was scored four touchdowns.

In March, 1961, according to Lyle M. Spencer, president of SRA, NEDT exams were administered to more than 366,000 students in 9th and 10th grade classes across the nation.

The certificates are provided for students scoring in the top quarter of each state's participants, by grade.

Prepared and administered by SRA, the NEDT provided scores in English, social studies, mathematics, natural sciences and word usage. The evaluation of educational strengths and weaknesses is particularly important at this stage of a student's scholastic career, the principal explained, so that school authorities, parents and the students themselves may make better decisions about future careers.

A special aim of the program, the principal added, is to enable parents and educators to provide realistic guidance and motivation for high school youngsters.

Antique Auto Group Starts History Project

The Saugerties Mid-Hudson Antique Auto Club has started a new project that the members feel should be of interest to people of this area as well as being of historical value. They are in the process of collecting all available information and material about automobiles made in Kingston and to date have compiled the following list:

Guy-Vaughn, 1914; Allen Kingston; Emmerson, 1916-17; Campbell, 1916-20; Commer Trucks, 1912; Remmington, 1901-1914; King; New York Car and Truck Co., 1907.

Members would appreciate hearing from anyone who could add more data to their collection or additional information that would help in their project.

The club may be contacted by writing to Box 111, Saugerties.

Historic Inns Discussed at Monday Club

The Saugerties Monday Club met this week at the home of Mrs. Bessie Kamp, Barclay Heights, at which time Mrs. Raymond Quackenbush presented a program on Historic Inns.

Mrs. Quackenbush's paper told of the important role the colonial inns played in the development of the country—"Patrick Henry was one of the first to discern this when he called them the 'Cradles of Liberty'. They were rallying places for bands of militia in time of war and friendly gathering places for villagers in time of peace. From colonial days to the 19th century, these inns were fashioning history in the military, social and political life of the land. The inn was a haven for patriot, poet, philosopher, farmer and merchant. Here America's abiding spirit of freedom took form and was developed. These old inns sheltered and nutured the courage and vigor of a people whose horizon was ever changing, yet, never changing".

The club will meet next week at the home of Mrs. Henry Hartley, Finger Street.

Rosarians Holiday Party Slated Dec. 6

Reservations will be taken this week for the catered supper Christmas party meeting of St. Mary of the Snow Rosary Society Wednesday, Dec. 6, in the school cafeteria starting at 7 p. m. Mrs. Eleanor Naccarato, chairman, urges all members to contact her at Frank's TV Shop before Friday.

Mrs. Naccarato has engaged five acts of entertainment to add to the festivities that night. Santa will also be an "invited guest." Each member will bring a gift for exchange. Also, Rosarians are asked to remember the needy by bringing canned goods, plus a gourmet gift.

The annual party has been changed from the regular meeting night so as not to conflict with the fast and abstinence regulations preceding the holy day.

VFW Auxiliary Will Meet Next Wednesday

Members of the Ladies Auxiliary to Saugerties Memorial Post 5034, VFW, will remember the change in date of the December meeting to the first Wednesday, Dec. 6. The second Wednesday of the month will be the annual Christmas game at Castle Point Veterans Administration Hospital, Beacon.

A Christmas party will follow the regular meeting. Each member will bring a "funny" gift with a consequence inside to be performed by the recipient. Mrs. Ruth Prendergast is in charge of the refreshments for the night.

Gifts for distribution at the Veterans Hospital Dec. 19 may also be brought to the meeting. Items suggested by Mrs. Prendergast include socks, tee shirts, pens, writing paper, Christmas novelties, games, nuts, toiletries.

Golden Age Club Will Elect Officers Dec. 7

A special meeting of Saugerties Golden Age Club has been called for Thursday, Dec. 7, at the home of the president, Mrs. Eva Watts, 8 Jane St., for the purpose of electing next year's officers.

According to the organization's constitution, officers will be elected in December. Due to the Christmas dinner Dec. 14 at the VFW Hall, the group voted to hold a business session earlier in the month.

During their recent regular meeting, the senior citizens decided that each person attending the dinner bring a gift for exchange. Mrs. Elizabeth Kunz was welcomed back after a long absence.

The Golden Agers took part in their first outing as provided under the state aid for the elderly by their group attendance at the Catskill Glee Club's concert at the high school. Mrs. Watts expressed her thanks to the drivers, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Slobodian and Mrs. Donald Fellows for providing the transportation.

Refreshments for the last meeting were provided by the afternoon village unit of the Ulster County Home Extension Service.

Celebrate Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Milton H. Armstrong of Treis Terrace celebrated their twenty-fifth anniversary at a dinner party Saturday night at Williams Lake Hotel and also at an open house Sunday attended by 55 guests. Among the guests were Hobert Bates who acted as best man at the wedding and Mrs. Bates of Monticello.

Mr. and Mrs. Armstrong were married Nov. 28, 1936, at the parsonage of the Monticello Methodist Church by the Rev. James Brimelow. The Armstrongs have two sons, James, 21, who is stationed in Virginia with the U. S. Navy, and Alan, 19, at home.

Miss Joan Havekost of Levittown, was a weekend guest of the Armstrong family.

Church Plans Supper

The annual oyster supper of the Blue Mountain Reformed Church will be served Friday, Dec. 1 at 6 p. m. in the church hall. Proceeds will go to the children's Christmas party fund.

Area Social Notes

Mr. and Mrs. Winthrop Emmons of High Woods are receiving congratulations on the birth of a daughter, Elizabeth Jane, born at the Kingston Hospital Thanksgiving evening, Nov. 23. The Emmos are the parents of three other children, Holly, who will be seven on Christmas Eve, Jeffrey, five, and Tod, three. Mr. Emmons is an instructor of music in the Saugerties High School.

Basketball Program

Registration for the Youth Council sponsored basketball will take place on Saturday night, 7 p. m. at the Municipal Auditorium. All boys over the age of 14 are eligible to register.

Hornung to Get Pass for Game Against Giants

FT. RILEY, Kan. (AP) — The Army announced today that Pvt. Paul Hornung would get a week end pass to play with the Green Bay Packers against the New York Giants in their National Football League game in Milwaukee Sunday.

Hornung will be released after duty Saturday and probably will fly to Milwaukee.

Dog Census Will Start on Friday

James Hicks of Tillson was recently appointed dog enumerator by the Rosendale Town Board for the Town of Rosendale.

Dog census for the town will start Friday.

New dog licenses for 1962 will be available beginning Friday at the town clerk's office, Main Street, Rosendale.

The regular monthly meeting of the Rosendale Town Board will be held Monday 8 p. m. at the town clerk's office, Main Street.

Rosary Altar Society Will Meet on Sunday

The regular monthly communion Sunday for St. Peter's Rosary Altar Society will be held Sunday at the 9 a. m. Mass at St. Peter's Church, Rosendale.

A business meeting will follow the Mass at the St. Peter's School Hall. New members may attend. Coffee and cake will be served. Hostesses are Mrs. Frank Yonnetti and Mrs. Francis Don of Bloomington.

Rosendale Church Sets Dinner on December 6

The Rosendale Reformed Church is having a fish and chips dinner Wednesday, Dec. 6. Servings will start at 5:30 p. m. until all are served. The dinner will be made by Blanch's Caterers from Paterson, N. J., who are well known for their fish and chips dinners. The dinner is sponsored by the consistory of the church. Tickets are now on sale.

Tillson Services

Sermon topic for services Sunday 11 a. m. at the Tillson Reformed Church will be Let Not Your Heart Be Troubled. The Rev. Alfred J. Penney, DD, minister of the church, will preside. Sunday school will be held 9:45 a. m.

Board Plumbers Will Repair Vandal Damage

Plumbing Inspector Charles J. Kelly, who said he was shocked to learn of the vandalism at Kingman Park, today reported that he and members of the Examining Board of Plumbers will make repairs.

It is difficult to understand, he said, "how anyone could have such total disregard for the property of others, especially the Little League, which tries so hard to teach good sportsmanship."

Plumbing and other facilities at the park were recently badly damaged. The plumbing had been installed by plumbing board members in the spring of 1960. Kelly said he had informed Little League officers that repairs will be made long in advance of the opening of the baseball season.

Hurts Neck in Crash

Carmello Kelderhouse, 22, of 170 Delaware Avenue, reported a neck injury after a mishap near 407 Delaware Avenue early Tuesday afternoon. Police said a car driven by Kelderhouse struck the parked car of William H. Mills, 42, of Clay Road, Ulster Park. Kelderhouse said he would be treated by a doctor.

Hollywood News, Views

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-TV Writer

HOLLYWOOOD (AP) — Billy Wilder has accomplished what everyone thought impossible: He has made a comedy about the cold war.

Many have tried. But it took the screen's No. 1 wit to pull it off. Wilder's "One, Two, Three" is a worthy successor to his previous satires, "Some Like It Hot" and "The Apartment."

Wilder (with his gifted collaborator, I. A. L. Diamond, chose an impossible task. He placed his comedy in the world's grimmest city, Berlin. He set the pace to be that of a fox hunt—full cry from the very beginning.

The music over the titles is "The Sabre Dance," and that frantic tempo is kept throughout the film. James Cagney begins his first scene at a shout and rarely lowers his voice for the next 110 minutes.

Not even a comedy genius like Wilder can maintain such speed throughout, and there are times when the ear yearns for a dulcet voice and gentle violins. Then Wilder hits you in the face with another outrageous situation.

Tries to Break Romance

The plot is from a Ferenc Molnar one-acter and is just enough to provide the impetus for the frantic goings-on. The scatterbrained heiress (Pamela Tiffin) of an American soft-drink maker falls in love with an East Berlin beatnik (Horst Buchholz). The Berlin manager of the firm (Cagney) tries to break up the romance, but is thwarted when he learns she is married and pregnant.

The amazing thing about "One, Two, Three" is that it can get so much fun out of such a grim subject. Some of the gags are standard but many are inspired, and they come so swiftly that some are bound to hit the mark.

No actor can handle this kind of romp as deftly as Cagney, and he is in peak form. Buchholz shows an un-Germanic touch for light comedy, and Misss Tiffin is perfect as the ingenuous Southern belle. Arlene Francis drops off TV panels to show she can still act. Lilo Pulver is a smash as Cagney's ring-a-ding-ding secretary.

THIS NEWSPAPER is a member of... THE ASSOCIATED PRESS AP

We think that's important to you, our readers. Here's why:

The Associated Press, the world's oldest and largest news agency, is a non-profit cooperative. It is wholly independent and operates without subsidy, interference or influence by any government. It has no stockholders, declares no dividends, distributes no profits. All revenue obtained by AP is spent for gathering and distributing news. Each member pays only a fair share of the day-to-day expense.

All this is vital to you. For one thing, it means that, through this newspaper, you get the benefits of a worldwide staff of expert newsmen and photographers. But far more important, it insures you of factual and fair reporting from an organization which regards the distribution of information as a public trust.

We've known these facts all along, of course.

EMPLOYMENT

NOTICE TO JOB APPLICANTS
The Kingston Daily Freeman does not knowingly accept help wanted advertisements from employers covered by the Federal Wage-Hour Law if they offer less than legal minimum wages. Beginning September 3, 1961, employees engaged in interstate or foreign commerce or in the production of goods for such commerce must be paid not less than $1.15 an hour and at least time and one-half for hours worked after 40 in a workweek, unless specifically exempt. Employees of certain large retail, service, construction, and other enterprises must be paid not less than $1.00 an hour after September 3, 1961, but no overtime for such employment is required until September 3, 1963. If you are offered less by covered employers, or if you have questions concerning this law or other activities of the U. S. Department of Labor, call or write the Department's local office at Bronx: Abraham Klainbard, Investigation Supr., 881 Gerard Ave., Bronx, N. Y. WYandotte 2-1235.

EXAMINE SAFETY PLEDGE—William S. Hults, (left) commissioner of the State Department of Motor Vehicles, and Clifton W. Phalen, president of the New York State Citizens Council on Traffic Safety, Inc., New York City, examine a wallet-size card to be issued to all car owners throughout the state starting Thursday for 1962 registrations. The card is a safe driver's pledge with a space for the motorist to sign indicating his participation in the traffic safety program. The back of the card lists the point system used by the department to discourage repeat traffic infractions.

Issue Cards to All Drivers In Traffic Safety Campaign

An "On Target" safety campaign to remind motorists to drive safely or risk losing their licenses was launched today by The New York State Citizens Council on Traffic Safety in cooperation with the Motor Vehicle Department.

Effective December 1, autoowners applying for 1961 registrations and plates, will receive a wallet-size card bearing a pledge to drive safely on one side and an explanation of the point system on the other.

Risks License Loss

Under New York State's point system, a driver risks losing his license for repeated violations of traffic laws.

The wallet-size safe driving pledge card was developed by the Motor Vehicle Department and The New York State Citizens Council on Traffic Safety.

Clifton W. Phalen, council president and president of the New York Telephone Company, said today:

"The council is grateful to Commissioner William S. Hults for his department's cooperation in helping us to distribute these cards. An initial printing of 2,500,000 cards already has been distributed to all motor vehicle branch offices and county clerks' offices responsible for the issuance of registrations and plates. We are planning an additional distribution of approximately 5,000,000 of these cards.

To Decrease Mishaps

"The purpose of the council, of which Governor Nelson Rockefeller is honorary chairman, is to help reduce traffic accidents throughout New York. Last year the state suffered more than 2,000 traffic deaths and over 273,000 injuries. The economic cost was over one-half billion dollars. Our target is the driver or car-owner.

"Through the device of the wallet card which we hope each driver or car owner will carry, we are hitting our target dead-center. We hope these cards will serve to remind drivers and car-owners to drive carefully or risk losing their licenses.

"Commissioner Hults has been working hard to reduce traffic accidents. One of the primary aims of the council is to support government officials in their efforts to curtail traffic accidents, injuries and deaths. We are delighted to report that fatalities in September—which include the traffic dangerous Labor Day weekend, cropped 22 per cent compared to 1960, lowest since 1948 when 151 persons were killed. September fatalities were 161 persons killed compared to 206 deaths in September 1960.

"We feel there is reason for optimism in these figures reflecting as they do increasing cooperation between the driving public, enforcement officials, newspapers, radio and television, and the Governor. Governor Rockefeller's radio and television spot announcements on safe driving were featured prominently by the state's television and radio networks over the Labor Day weekend."

Meanwhile Commissioner Hults said:

"We appreciate this important contribution on the part of the Citizens Council.

Must Obey Laws

"It should serve to remind the state's drivers that in order to keep their licenses, they must obey laws. As far as I know, it is the first such safety device ever distributed to virtually all of the state's drivers."

The commissioner also said the cards would be distributed at group interviews the Department of Motor Vehicles conducts throughout the state for persistent violators of the Vehicle and Traffic Law.

"This means we will be reaching drivers who are in actual danger of losing their licenses, with this timely reminder," he said.

NOTICE TO CONTRACTORS: STATE DEPARTMENT OF PUBLIC WORKS, ALBANY, N. Y.—Pursuant to the provisions of the Highway Law, and special provisions for projects financed with Federal Aid Funds, sealed proposals will be received until ten-thirty o'clock A. M., eastern standard time, on the 21st day of December 1961, by Henry A. Cohen, Director, Bureau of Contracts, 12th Floor, The Governor Alfred E. Smith State Office Building, Albany, N. Y., for the following projects:
ULSTER COUNTY
M. N. Sinacori, District Engineer, 28 Dutchess Tpke., P. O. Box 551, Poughkeepsie, N. Y.
CONTRACT NO. — FARC 61-163 (Rte. 28).
TYPE — ASPHALT CONC. MISC. WORK, COMPOSITE PLATE GIRDER BRIDGE, REINF. CONC. CLOSED BOX BRIDGE.
NAME OF HIGHWAY & MILES—FLEISCHMANNS-MARGARETVILLE S.H. 239; GRIFFIN CORNERS S.H. 36, PINE HILL-GRIFFIN CORNERS S.H. 5177 4.27 MILES.
DEPOSIT FOR PLANS—$5.00.
BID DEPOSIT—$123,000.
DEPT. EST.—$2,251,000.
Any projects in this letting that are on the Federal Aid highway systems are subject to the provisions of the "Federal Aid Highway Act of 1956," being Public Law 627, 84th Congress, approved June 29, 1956, and are also subject to the applicable New York State statutes.
In compliance with the provisions of Section 115 (Prevailing Rate of Wage), Public Law 627, the minimum wages to be paid laborers and mechanics are included in wage schedules that are set out in the bid proposal.
Maps, plans, specifications and proposal forms may be seen and obtained at the office of the State Department of Public Works, Bureau of Contracts, Albany, N. Y., and at the office of the District Engineers noted above, and may also be seen at the office of the State Department of Public Works, 270 Broadway, New York City.
If the deposit is $10.00 or more, full refund for one copy of the plans and specifications will be made to a bidder for the particular project, if such plans and specifications are returned in good condition within 30 days after the award of the contract or after the rejection of the proposal. The successful bidder is not required to return the copy of the plans and specifications in order to be entitled to such refund. If the deposit is $10.00 or more, partial refund will be made for the return of all other copies of plans and specifications in good condition within 30 days after the award of the contract or the rejection of the proposal.
Special attention of bidders is called to "Information for Bidders" in the Public Works Specifications, and to the special provisions applying to projects financed with federal funds. Award of a contract is subject to priorities and allocations under the Defense Production Act of 1950, as Amended, and all regulations issued thereunder.
Proposal for each contract must be submitted in a separate sealed envelope with the name and number of the contract plainly endorsed on the outside of the envelope. Each proposal must be accompanied by draft or certified check payable to the order of the "State of New York, Department of Public Works" for the sum as specified in the advertisement and the proposal. The retention and disposal of the bid deposit, the execution of the contract and bond shall conform to the provisions of the Highway Law, as set forth in the "Information for Bidders."
The right is reserved to reject any or all bids.

President Honors Public Service Award Winners

WASHINGTON, D. C.—President Kennedy in a ceremony at the White House at 11:45 this morning, honored five winners of the 1961 Rockefeller Public Service Awards for long and distinguished career service to the federal government. Appearing with the winners in the President's office was Dr. Robert F. Goheen, president of Princeton University, whose Woodrow Wilson School of Public and International Affairs, administers the awards as a national trust, under funds provided by John D. Rockefeller 3rd.

The President has long been interested in a strong permanent career service. When he delivered the principal address at the 1958 Rockefeller Public Service Awards luncheon he said: "Certainly our Government and our people have never stood so acutely in need of developing in full the talents of our ablest public servants."

The five winners of the 1961 Rockefeller Public Service Awards honored by the President were:

Dr. Robert Hanna Felix, director, National Institute of Mental Health, National Institute of Health, Department of Health, Education and Welfare.

Livingston T. Merchant, United States Ambassador to Canada, Department of State.

Dr. Thomas Brennan Nolan, director, Geological Survey, Department of the Interior.

Colin D. Stam, chief of staff, Joint Committee on Internal Revenue Taxation, United States Congress.

On December 7 a luncheon honoring the winners will be held in the Blue Room of the Shoreham Hotel in Washington, D. C. The principal speaker on this occasion will be Philip L. Graham, president of the Washington Post and chairman of the board of Newsweek Magazine.

Some Children Of Deceased Vets May Be Eligible

Charles L. Culver, veteran counselor, New York State Division of Veterans Affairs and John B. Tyler, director, Ulster County Veterans' Service Agency, said today that minor children of deceased veterans of World War 2 and Korean Conflict may be eligible for veterans pension payments even though the widows of these veterans may be ineligible.

"A case in point," the Veterans officials stated, "is where the widow is ineligible due to remarriage or excessive income. This ineligibility does not affect the eligibility of th minor children. The children must not be married and not have passed their 18th birthday.

If attending school, children are eligible for pension payments until they have reached their 21st birthday provided their own personal income does not exceed the established limits," Culver and Tyler continued.

When a widow and children are already on the pension rolls and if for some reason, the widow becomes ineligible, the pension payments to the children will be continued. However, in cases where the widow never applied for a pension, or the application was not allowed due to remarriage or excessive income, the children of widows in this category are urged to visit the office of Culver, veteran counselor, State Division of Veterans Affairs, and Tyler, director, Ulster County Veterans' Service Agency, 32 Main Street, Kingston, with branch offices in Saugerties, Ellenville, Highland and Kerhonkson.

TimberlakeGroup Resumes Fallout Shelter Sessions

Residents of the Timberlake Estates, a housing development near Shultis Corners in the Town of Saugerties will continue their discussion of a community fallout shelter at a meeting Friday at 8:30 p. m. in the home of William Ortell, in the development.

At that time a report will be heard on the proposed purchase of a piece of land on which to locate a shelter and also under discussion will be a format to organize a corporation to handle the proposal. Further discussion will include a study of various types of fallout shelters.

Some 11 families in the housing development hope to construct a fallout shelter large enough to house 12 families or 50 persons. They have learned that the shelter can be financed by a Federal Housing Authority Loan.

State Police Probe Tri-Mount Break-in

State police are continuing their investigation in a break at Camp Tri-Mount, Boy Scout reservation in East Jewett, Greene County, in which tools were stolen and the interior of the handicraft lodge was wrecked.

The break was discovered over the weekend by Henry P. Eighmey, camp chairman for Rip Van Winkle Council, Boy Scouts of America.

Religious Class For Jewish Young People to Begin

Starting Sunday 11 a. m. classes in the Backgrounds of Judaism will be held at 167 Fair Street in the Talmud Torah building. Rabbi H. Z. Rappaport will be in charge of the course, which will cover a 25-week period.

All previous Talmud Torah students, who wish to resume Hebrew and religious education may attend.

Talmud Torah is the educational service of both Congregation Ahavath Israel and Congregation Agudas Achim. While the course is intended primarily for the high school student, adults may attend any of the following sessions:

Dec. 3, Pre-Biblical Period of Development; Dec. 10, The Age of the Bible; Dec. 17, The Authority of the Torah; Jan. 7, Devarim, Deuteronomy, a review of the five books of Moses; Jan. 14, Tehilim, The Book of Psalms—the Basis of Our Prayers.

Jan. 21, Isaiah, The Future of Aspirations of the Jewish People; Jan. 28, Jeremiah, The Words of Reprimand to the Jews; Feb. 4, Trei Asar, The Minor Prophets and their contribution to Judaism; Feb. 11, Commentaries on the Torah Rashi, Iben Ezra, Rabbi Samuel Ben Mair.

Feb. 18, Positive Commandments of the Bible; Feb. 26, Negative Commandments of the Bible; March 4, The Book of Esther, Last Book of the Bible; March 11, The women mentioned in the Bible; March 18, Commandments of the Bible which we no longer keep.

March 25, Customs mentioned in the Torah; April 1, The Development of the Synagogue; April 8, Passover and its development from Egypt till today; April 15, Model Seder; April 22, The Land of the Bible; April 29, The Political Parties in Modern Israel.

May 6, The Purpose of the Jewish Religion; May 13, The offshoots of the Jewish Religion; May 20, The enemies of the Jewish people and religion; May 27, Can there be more than one truth in Judaism?

West Park Church Sets Parish Meeting Monday

At the annual parish meeting of Ascension Episcopal Church, West Park, next Monday evening, Theodore Oxholm, treasurer of the Diocese of New York and delegate to the General Convention recently held in Detroit, will speak on the historic decisions made by the church at that convention.

All those interested in hearing first hand just what was decided about church reunion and other important matters may attend the meeting whether members of Ascension parish or not. The meeting will begin at 8 p. m. in the parish house of Ascension Church, West Park.

Will Remember Crash

SCHENECTADY, N.Y. (AP)—When police investigated a collision, driver Emil Pearson, 72, told them the accident was his first since he began driving in 1908.

He isn't likely to forget it. The other vehicle was a police car.

Reports Bicycles Stolen

Ignatius Witkowsk, of 193 Greenkill Avenue, notified police Tuesday night of the theft of three bicycles from his driveway. Two, he said, were owned by his sons, and the other by another boy.

Cases Are Varied In Night Court

A young man, who police claim, was involved with an Ashokan teenager in several car thefts earlier this fall, waived examination in city court Tuesday night, a defendant was sentenced for assault, and a like charge against another was dismissed.

Ronald Joseph Demski, 21, of 49 Newkirk Avenue, charged with grand larceny for alleged car theft, waived hearing and was held for grand jury action. He was booked last month with Joseph Michael Hill, 17, of Ashokan, after reported thefts, two of which involved police chases. Hill waived examination soon after his arrest.

Police claim they were involved in the theft of seven vehicles in 10 days. One reported chase ended near the Thruway interchange where a car was wrecked, police said.

Richard Girard, 33, of 17 West Strand, who, with Major Hardin, 55, of 18 Ann Street, was charged with assault earlier this month, was given a suspended sentence of 90 days in jail after pleading to third, instead of second degree assault. The charge against Hardin was dismissed.

Girard claims that Hardin had chased rim with a razor, and Hardin told police that Girard had hit him on the head with a seven-foot piece of two-by-four on Post Street.

Check Downtown Fire

A fire said to have apparently resulted from use of a blowtorch in bathroom repair work damaged a section of a two-story, frame house owned by Mrs. William Hooker, at 79 Hudson Street, Tuesday afternoon. Units from Central and Cornell stations and the Wicks Company answered a call at 3:08 p. m. with Chief James M. Brett and Deputy Chief George D. Matthews in charge. They said the blaze spread upward through a partition to attic and roof areas. Two 1½-inch hose lines were used.

Saugerties Youth Named Alternate To U. S. Academy

Appointment of Robert D. Herb, 17, Saugerties High School senior as first alternate to West Point, was announced today by Congressman J. Ernest Wharton.

Herb, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Herb of Malden-on-Hudson, is an outstanding student at Saugerties High School. Last summer he was awarded a scholarship by Central Hudson Gas and Electric Corporation on his scholastic achievements and attended a two-weeks session in Poughkeepsie undergoing training as a prospective engineer. From the group in which Herb was a member, Central Hudson will select a boy for a scholarship at RPI.

Born December 8, 1944, Robert D. Herb has been a resident of Malden, attending local schools. His father Robert Herb, foreman at Catskill Mountain Star newspaper plant in Saugerties, is a member and president of Saugerties Board of Education.

Young Herb has been active in debating at Saugerties High, is a four-year member of the National Forensic League and winner of humorous speaking in a regional contest. In his sophomore year he won a citation for excellency in a National Education Development Test. He won first prize for his superior work in Latin I, and is a members of the Latin Club, French Club and Science Research Club of Saugerties High School.

Appointment of John Duffner, outstanding Kingston High School athlete, was announced yesterday by Congressman Wharton.

The appointment of Duffner, son of Mrs. Alfred Mayone of Hurley, was announced on Tuesday, followed today by Congressman Wharton's appointment of a first alternate, Herb, in the event Duffner does not accept appointment, will receive the appointment. As first alternate, he is also eligible for appointment to West Point Military Academy in the event a vacancy may exist in another district where no eligible appointee is available.

Questions Need of Vows Under Liberal Welfare

NEW YORK (AP)—Why should I get married when welfare is taking care of us?"

That observation before a Brooklyn grand jury a few weeks ago by a 17-year-old mother of two illegitimate children by two different men brought about the appearance before the jury Tuesday of Welfare Commissioner James R. Dumpson.

The jury, which is considering a statutory rape proceeding against the men, questioned Dumpson behind closed doors for more than an hour.

When he emerged, he told newsmen that the jury was interested in the problem of children born out of wedlock.

"'It is a matter of interpreting what we can do or cannot do," Dumpson said.

9-Year-Old Cow Sets New Record

A nine-year-old cow at Paul Wixom's Gene Acres Farm, Milton Junction, Wisc., has milked her way into history as the 1,000th registered Holstein to complete an official record of 1,000 pounds of butterfat or more.

Lady Wilma Skokie reached the long-waited milestone with a 365-day production of 32,144 pounds of milk and 1,189 pounds of butterfat. She was milked twice daily throughout her testing period.

Over and above its establishing a new high point on the butterfat list, the completed record makes Wilma the 277th officially-tested registered Holstein to top 30,000 pounds of milk a year. In contrast, the average U. S. dairy cow has an estimated annual output of 7,000 pounds of milk containing 265 pounds of butterfat.

The weighing and testing for the record of Wilma was supervised by the University of Wisconsin as a part of the Holstein Herd Improvement Registry program.

Former Official Pleads Guilty to Misuse of Funds

PLATTSBURGH, N.Y. (AP)—Mrs. Shirley T. Clinton, 27, former city clerk, has "enough of a cross to bear" without serving a sentence for misuse of $3,500 in public funds, a judge holds.

Judge Sherlock Haley of Clinton County Court suspended imposition of sentence Tuesday after saying that Mrs. Clinton's cross was "her court record and a spouse who lives above and beyond his means."

The judge did not elaborate on that point. He noted that Mrs. Clinton had made restitution and had a good reputation and that a county clerk previously received no sentence after having taken money. Mrs. Clinton pleaded guilty to the specific charge of willful failure to pay over public funds.
